REV. HENRY VAN DYKE, D. D.,
Elected Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

PITTSBURGHER BEATEN IN RACE FOR MODERATOR

The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton Is the Choice of Presbyterian General Assembly.

BALLOTS WERE CAST FOR BOTH MOFFAT AND HOLMES

New York, May 15.—The Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, professor of literature at Princeton university, was late this afternoon elected moderator of the 114th general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which began its deliberations here yesterday. He was elected on the second ballot. The first ballot stood: Dr. Van Dyke 271, Dr. Kerr 86, Dr. Holmes 90, Dr. Moffat 144, Dr. Duffield 61. There were 598 votes cast, 299 being necessary to elect.

There was some discussion as to whether another ballot should be cast before the end of the session, as there was a communion service scheduled. After some talk it was decided to cast another ballot. Before this was done, however, Dr. Robert R. Booth of New York arose and withdrew the name of Dr. Howard Duffield. He said this was done at Dr. Duffield's request.

Election Made Unanimus.

After the result was announced the retiring moderator, Dr. Henry C. Minton, moved that Dr. Van Dyke's election be made unanimous and this was done. On the second ballot only 574 votes were cast, of which 287 were necessary to elect.

Amidst cheers, Dr. Van Dyke was escorted to the moderator's chair and as he took it, Dr. Minton said:

"My brother, it becomes my duty to inform you of your election to the office of moderator of this general assembly and to present you with this book of law and order. I trust that God may spare you to us all and that He may grant you His blessing in the work before you."

Dr. Van Dyke said in reply:

"I thank you with all my heart for giving me the privilege of standing in a place made sacred to me by the memory of my father. I have not deserved this [illegible], but will do my best, if you will help me, to be a loyal and true moderator of the church in which I was born and which I have with all my heart." Dr. Van Dyke then declared the session adjourned until tomorrow at 9 a. m.

The Nominations Made.

At the first business session of the assembly the moderator presented, as a gift from the Rev. B. A. Stein of Stockton, Cal., a redwood gavel, which had been brought from Jerusalem. Nominations for moderator were then made.

The Rev. Dr. H. D. Lindsay of Allegheny, Pa., placed the name of the Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat, president of Washington-Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., before the assembly. The speaker said that the time had come when Western Pennsylvania demanded that one of her commissioners should be nominated for the moderatorship.

The next speaker was Jeremiah Baker of Madison, N. J., a lay delegate, who placed in nomination the Rev. Dr. W. G. Phraner of Orange, N. J. The Rev. Dr. R. Russell Booth of the New York presbytery named the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, of the "Old First church," this city. The Rev. Dr. William R. Taylor, D. D., of Rochester, N. Y., named the Rev. Dr. Henry VanDyke, former pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue, now occupying the chair of literature at Princeton.

Successful Name Proposed.

Dr. Taylor in placing in nomination the name of Dr. VanDyke, said that he accounted it no small honor to place the name before the assembly. His ability as a churchman and a literary man, he said, was known. "Prof. VanDyke," he said, "belongs to no party or faction and has done no electioneering. It was only this morning that some of his friends decided to present his name to the assembly."

In seconding Dr. VanDyke's nomination, the Rev. Herrick Johnson of Chicago said that his candidate was a scholar of scholarly habits, instinct and ambition. He said that the Presbyterian church would honor herself in electing Dr. VanDyke moderator.

"Dr. VanDyke," he said, "has preached the gospel in italic type throughout the world. He is a clarion and ready speaker. I have been asked by some present: 'What about Dr. VanDyke's theology?' 'Is he orthodox?' 'Isn't he shaky about his theology?' In reply to those questions I say that what his honorable father believed and stood for, he stands for and believes. He is a child of the covenant."

The Rev. Joseph J. Lampe of Omaha nominated Dr. D. B. Kerr, the president of Bellevue college, Bellevue, Neb.

The Rev. Samuel C. Palmer of St. Louis placed in nomination the name of the Rev. Richard S. Holmes of Pittsburgh. Dr. Palmer was seconded by the Rev. Thomas Perry of Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Just before the nominations closed at 5:20 p. m., the name of Dr. Wilson Phraner was withdrawn. Dr. Phraner said that he appreciated the honor, but must decline on account of his age. After Dr. Phraner resumed his seat the work of calling the roll for the first ballot began.

MET IN MISSOURI.

General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Session.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 15.—The seventy-second general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in the United States met here today. The Rev. E. E. Morris of Marshall, Mo., the moderator, preached the opening sermon.

At the afternoon session, by a practically unanimous vote, resolutions for a moderator's council were adopted for the control of the assembly and were submitted to the presbyteries for indorsement. The new plan takes from the moderator the committee appointing power and gives it to 16 commissioners of the body's own choosing.

SALARY INCREASES FINALLY ORDERED

Allegheny's Common Council Joins Select in Being Liberal With Officials and Employes.

The ordinances passed Wednesday night by Allegheny select council increasing the salaries of Allegheny city's officials were passed in the common branch. They provoked a warm debate, during which City Controller James Brown was hauled over the coals in a lively fashion by some of the members.

James R. Herricks made a plea in favor of the ordinances. He said that of the total increase $48,000 is for police, firemen and day laborers, aggregating about 3,000 persons whose wages are from $2.25 to $2.50 per day; that they are only asking for from 25 cents to 50 cents a day, or from 10 to 20 per cent increase. He argued that as rents in Allegheny are going up rapidly, property owners can afford to pay an increase of from ½ to 1 mill in their city tax. He also argued that this year street car and railroad companies and other corporations will pay into the treasury big sums for back taxes, which will easily meet the increase in salaries.

John H. Trimble opposed the ordinances for the reason that the millage will have to be increased at least 2 mills next year to meet the increase.

President John M. Goehring spoke against the practice of railroading the salary ordinances through the finance committee and through councils. He declared that no one knew whether the increases asked for are just or not.

In passing the ordinances Messrs. Trimble, Heer and McHenry voted against the one increasing the salaries of members of the department of assessors. All other measures passed by select council Wednesday night also passed finally.

Upon the roll of wards ordinances regulating salaries as follows were introduced and referred:

Plumbing inspector, bureau of public safety, $1,500; store keeper, bureau of water, $3 per day; superintendent bureau of water assessments, $2,500; assistant clerk, office city assessor, $1,200; clerk and storekeeper, bureau of public lighting, $900; inspector clerk, bureau of public lighting, $1,200; wipers, bureau of public lighting, $2 75 per day; detectives, bureau of police, $1,500; chief clerk, bureau of water, $1,500; market sweeper, $900; rodmen, bureau of water, $75 per month; chief clerk, bureau of health, $1,200; linemen, $3 per day; other laborers in public works department, $2 75 per day.

Will Support Evans' Candidate.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 15.—Harry A. Ball of Shenandoah, a brother of James G. Ball, publisher of the Pottsville Republican, from the First legislative district, announced this evening his candidacy for the office of senator from this district. There is no opposition. They will vote for the choice of Senator Quay.

NEW ERUPTION IN ST. VINCENT IS PREDICTED

Prophecy Is Uttered by Scientists from Island of Trinidad.

WHOLE ESTATES HAVE VANISHED

HUNDREDS OF BODIES ARE STILL UNBURIED

Famine Prices for Food—Lake on the Summit of the Volcano Probably Has Disappeared—Noxious Vapors Spreading Sickness—Floating Bodies.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, British West Indies, Monday, May 12.—Scientists who have come here from the British island of Trinidad predict another volcanic eruption on St. Vincent within a short time.

The damage done to St. Vincent by the volcanic eruptions is now known to be considerably greater than was at first estimated. The present uneasiness of the inhabitants of the island is increased by the continuous agitation of the volcanic craters.

On Friday morning, May 9, large stones and volcanic dust fell in the neighborhood of Georgetown for two hours, terrifying the people there. A cloud of hot vapor then passed over that part. Two eruptions of less magnitude than the first occurred Saturday, May 10, and from then until today fire and smoke have been ascending at intervals from the craters.

Owing to the great heat it is still impossible to approach the Souffriere volcano from the leeward side.

Entire Estates Disappear.

Interesting discoveries have been made regarding physical changes on St. Vincent resulting from the eruptions. Several fissures have been observed on La Souffriere. The estate of Wallbou has disappeared and has been replaced by an inlet of the sea. Richmond, an estate adjacent to Wallbou, which was formerly flat, and upon which there were several laborers' cottages, has been completely burned, and out of the estate there now arises a large ridge of ground.

It is believed that the Rabacel crater, in the windward district of the island, also has erupted. From a distance, La Souffriere, although less violent, still wears a cap of dark clouds, which is illumined every now and then by flashes of red light.

Volcanic dust fell here again yesterday; but, fortunately, there have been also several heavy rain showers which have washed away the dust from the grass, restoring verdure of the fields. The condition of the atmosphere also is apparently improving.

Destitution Is Prevalent.

Owing to the destruction of several estates, the sugar and arrowroot industries of St. Vincent are seriously injured. Destitution prevails among the laboring classes, who are without homes, without clothes and hungry.

Nearly 2,000 deaths on this island have been reported. Bodies have been discovered in houses in lifelike attitudes, presenting gruesome spectacles. There are decomposed bodies in many houses, and, in order to guard against disease, it probably will be necessary for the authorities to burn these dwellings. Owing to the many difficulties in the way of those who have the matter in hand hundreds of bodies have not yet been buried.

As wide areas of ground which formerly produced food products have been devastated, there is today an abnormal demand for breadstuffs, and a consequent scarcity of food supplies. The prices of food are advancing. The destruction of the live stock of the island also has caused a rise in the price of meat.

A British warship has arrived from Trinidad bringing provisions for the relief of the sufferers.

Souffriere's Lake No More.

Tuesday, May 13.—No person has yet been able to approach within eight miles of the new crater of the Souffriere volcano, but judging from what can be seen from a considerable distance, the old lake at the summit of the mountain has disappeared. The numerous fissures in the mountain's sides continue to throw out vapor and the subterranean murmurings and tremblings indicate continued unrest.

During the afternoon of Monday a dense volume of steam and smoke rose from the volcano and the whole island was covered by a peculiar mist.

The inhalation of noxious vapors here is increasing the spread of sickness. An ambulance corps from the island of Barbadoes has arrived here. Starvation threatens the poorer classes of the afflicted districts.

Nearly every remaining negro hut in the Carib country contains decayed bodies, and the horrible stench is driving people away. Mutilated bodies are tied with ropes and dragged to the trenches where they are buried. Sometimes bodies are cremated.

The local government is feeding and sheltering about 3,000 refugees. Subscriptions for the relief of the sufferers are being raised in all the British West Indian islands.

The Danish warship Valkyrien has returned from Fort de France to St. Thomas, D. W. I. The officers confirm previous reports of having steamed through countless floating bodies on the way to Fort de France.

SURVIVORS OF RORAIMA.

They Probably Will Reach New York by the 20th—Measures for Relief Taken in the Metropolis.

NEW YORK, May 15.—A cablegram dispatch was received today at the offices of the Quebec Steamship Company saying the steamer Korona, with survivors of the Roriama, left St. Croix today and will proceed direct to New York. She should arrive here May 19 or 20.

Col. Brainerd, who is in charge of supplies of the army, received an order from Washington today instructing him to receive all public donations in the way of supplies.

MONT PELEE STILL UGLY AT LAST ADVICES

BODIES ARE BURNED IN ONE GREAT PYRE

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

St. Kitts, B. W. I., May 15.—From an officer of the steamer Solent, just arrived from St. Pierre, it is learned that Mont Pelee is still in eruption. Lava flows in broad streams down the sides of the volcano.

The entire island of Martinique continues in a state of panic. In St. Pierre bodies are being burned in a great pyre upon which kerosene is steadily sprayed. In spite of this it will be weeks before the place can be cleared of the dead. Physicians who have made examinations say that in most cases death was due to asphyxiation and that the fire came later.

It is now believed that Mont Pelee threw off a great volume of exceedingly heavy and noxious gas, akin to fire-damp, which settled upon the city and rendered the inhabitants insensible. This was followed by the sheet of flame. The survivors who were taken from the ships in the harbor say their first experience was one of faintness.

Looting is being sternly suppressed. Soldiers form a cordon about St. Pierre, and only those who have business there are allowed within the lines.

Great suffering continues in Martinique. Food is being received, but not in sufficient quantities to feed the refugees that have flocked to Fort de France. The steamship Madiana, with food supplies purchased by the New York chamber of commerce, left here last night for Fort de France.

By those who have arrived here from Martinique it is said that the dumb animals were wiser than man. Mont Pelee long gave warning of the storm of fire which it was storing up to hurl upon the island. Residents of St. Pierre saw and heard the warnings and refused to heed them. Even before Mont Pelee began to rumble, late in April, live stock became uneasy and at times almost uncontrollable. Cattle lowed in the night. Dogs howled and sought the company of their masters, and when driven forth gave every evidence of fear. Wild animals disappeared from the vicinity of Mont Pelee. Even the snakes, which at ordinary times, are found in great numbers near the volcano, crawled away. Birds ceased singing and left the trees that shaded the sides of Pelee. The human inhabitants alone neglected to protect themselves.

Promise to Equalize Tariffs.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Representatives of western railroads today promised the interstate commerce commission to agree on an equalization of the live stock and dressed beef tariffs which would be satisfactory to the Chicago Live Stock exchange. An agreement must be reached by June 16 and it must be in effect by June 30.

GOLDEN SHOWER REPAID SERVICES TO C. M. SCHWAB

Train Crew, Newsboys and Messengers Startled by Presents from Steel Magnate.

WILL AMUSE CHILDREN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., May 15.—President Charles M. Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation passed through Columbus in a special train on his way to Chicago. On the way from Pittsburgh he gave each member of the train crew $5. During a brief stop at the Union depot he bought a paper from a newsboy and gave him $2, telling him to keep the change. A messenger brought him a telegram and received $5 for it, with the instruction that he might keep the change.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The following statement made by Charles M. Schwab in reference to his recent purchase of the Ocean Beach property on Staten island was published here today:

"I have purchased Richmond beach, facing New York bay on the south shore of Staten island, near Tottenville for the benefit of poor and sick children of New York. The land comprises about a quarter of a mile of fine beach, as well as fine fresh-water lake, a grove and high land.

"The building on the property will be altered to suit the purposes of the purchase after consultation with charitable institutions of New York. It is expected that from 1,000 to 2,000 children daily can be provided for at the beach and they will be given a good time in the usual way by means of bathing, boating on the lake and games in the fields. The children will be conveyed to the beach probably on a large steamer and the outings will continue during the open-air season. Every child will receive a good dinner.

"Mrs. Schwab is closely interested with me in this undertaking, and we both have our hearts in it. We shall proceed carefully in all respects, availing ourselves of the benefit of the experience of charitable organizations."

SOLDIERS ESCAPE FROM GUARD HOUSE

Three Prisoners Assault Sentry and Make a Dash for Liberty. Two Recaptured.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—Three prisoners confined in the guard house at the local United States army post made a dash for liberty this evening. They were led by Edward Jones, a desperado, for whom the army officials hunted for two years and whom they found recently serving a term in the reformatory at Mansfield. He was surrendered to them several weeks ago and has since been confined in the post jail.

Shortly after dark, Jones, backed by his confederates, crept silently upon the unsuspecting guard in front of the guard house door. Jones' pals seized the guard from behind and pinioned his arms, while Jones wrenched the guard's rifle from him and struck him a vicious blow upon the head. He fell unconscious and the trio, armed with the gun, continued their break for freedom.

They were observed running for a fence which separates the barracks grounds from the railroad yards and a general alarm was sounded. A squad was hastily assembled and just as Jones cleared the fence a shower of bullets whizzed over his head. The others weakened and returned to the guard house. No trace of Jones has been found.

CHASE BY RAIL AND WATER TO RESCUE GAYNOR

U. S. Secret Service Men Took Him and Greene by Surprise.

WELL-LAID PLAN WAS SUCCESSFUL

Quebec, May 15.—Col. John F. Gaynor and Capt. W. D. Greene, who forfeited their bail at Savannah in March and fled to Canada, were placed under arrest by officers connected with the United States secret service and Chief Carpenter of the Montreal detective force today. The arrests were made on warrants issued in Montreal, Chief Wilkie's men assisting the Canadian officers to make the arrests.

The men were hurried on board a swift little tug, the Spray, waiting at the wharf. Ten minutes after Greene and Gaynor were safely on board the boat steamed out into the river and started toward Montreal. The officers moved so quickly that neither of the prisoners was given an opportunity to consult counsel.

When notified of her husband's arrest, Mrs. Gaynor consulted Mr. Tachereau, her husband's attorney. A tug was chartered and an attempt was made to overtake the boat on which Gaynor and Greene were being carried away.

Tug Abandoned for Special Train.

After a short chase it was seen by those on board the pursuing tug that it would be impossible to overtake the Spray, and the pursuit was abandoned. It was decided to charter a special train and attempt to head off the Spray at some point between this city and Montreal.

When the two Americans first arrived in Quebec, they were followed by two men, also from the United States, who registered at the Chateau Frontenac. It now develops that one of these men is Detective Burke, of Florida. This morning Mr. McAlaster, a prominent lawyer of Montreal, who, it is rumored, is engaged by the prosecution, arrived here from Montreal. On the same boat with him were six detectives, including Chief Carpenter of Montreal. They were met on their arrival by Detective Burke.

At 10:30 a well-dressed man engaged a cabman by the hour and instructed him to wait near the postoffice. Soon afterward Burke arrived with another cab. Burke and two other men walked toward the Chateau Frontenac. In the meantime Mr. Greene, who had entered the postoffice, as was his daily custom, came out of the main door.

Too Busy for Farewells.

Two strangers, who had been in waiting in a store nearby, crossed the street and one of them, placing his hand on Greene's shoulder, pulled a document from his pocket and asked him to enter the first cab. Greene was heard to say: "Wait a minute until I see a friend," but this was denied him and the three detectives and Greene entered the cab and were driven to the wharf.

Burke and the other detectives went to the Chateau Frontenac. Gaynor was standing at the clerk's desk. The three detectives walked up to Gaynor and Burke produced a legal paper. Gaynor asked permission to get his overcoat, but he was not permitted to do so, and the four hurried out to the cab and started for the wharf at a rapid pace.

The hotel people notified Col. Gaynor's counsel of what had occurred. The attorney general's department and Judge Chauveau were notified and they in turn asked the police to investigate.

Mrs. Gaynor Takes Action.

Upon the return of Mrs. Gaynor to the city the lawyers had a short consultation with her and immediately two petitions for habeas corpus ordering the return of Gaynor and Greene to this city were prepared and two orders were signed to that effect by Judge Andrews in the superior court. In the meantime four members of the provincial police left for Three Rivers with orders to secure a tug there and try to intercept the Spray. The latter town is [illegible] miles from Quebec and just half way between here and Montreal.

While the petitions sworn to by Mrs. Gaynor were being prepared a special train was ordered over the Canadian Pacific railroad and at 5:30 p. m. the chase began. On the train were Cannon and Chauveau, attorneys for the case, who are bearers of the petition; High Constable Geoffrion and eight detectives.

The Spray passed Three Rivers at 7:15 o'clock, all efforts to intercept her. The next attempt probably will be made at Sorrel, at which point the Spray should pass soon after 11 p. m. A tug with provincial detectives on board left Montreal this evening to intercept the Spray.

MONTREAL, May 15.—The Spray passed Sorrel at 11:3[illegible]. She is due here about 3:30 a. m.

THE LIVES OF MANY VICTIMS IN BALANCE

Struggle Against Death Waging in Hospital and Home.

MOURNING DAY IN SHERADEN

The Town Spent Yesterday in Burying Its Burned and Blackened Dead.

GREENTREE HOME IS DOUBLY STRICKEN

Little Albert Haertig Followed His Brother Charles Into Eternity—Pathetic Story of the Two Boys—He Was the Only One to Die Yesterday.

Sheraden's tale of horror has not yet been told. In the hospitals and homes lie 17 victims of Monday's disaster who are hovering close to the edge of the great beyond. Some of their cases are desperate, and physicians hold out but little hope of life. Only one died yesterday—little 12-year-old Albert Haertig, whose brother Charles passed away on Tuesday. Another of the boy victims is likely to die before midday.

In the stricken town of Sheraden yesterday the day was devoted to burying the dead. In Carnegie also one of the victims was laid away and others will be placed in their last resting place today. Doctors are battling with consummate skill in hospital ward and private home for the lives of the injured. How many will succumb cannot be told.

Three men believed to have been killed in the catastrophe have not yet been heard from, and their friends are searching vigilantly. The city authorities are receiving numerous inquiries from anxious wives and mothers whose husbands and sons have been missing since the explosion. It is doubtful whether it will ever be known just how many lives that cloud of burning naphtha cost, but every effort is being made to get an accurate list of those who perished.

Two Little Brothers Die.

One of the most pathetic incidents connected with the explosion was the death of Albert Haertig yesterday afternoon in the Homeopathic hospital. His brother Charles died Tuesday night at the Mercy hospital. They are the two sons of Charles Haertig of Greentree borough and the family is almost prostrated by the double visitation of the dark angel. Charles, the first of the boys to die, was 14 years of age, while Albert was but 12. Both were fearfully burned by the cloud of flame that swept over the hillside where they were standing.

The two boys had been attracted to the scene by the bright flame and noise of the first explosion, and were on the Sheraden side of the fatal hollow watching the burning cars in the valley below. When the second explosion occurred Charles grasped his younger brother and both started to run. They had gone but a few yards when the shower of burning naphtha and gas overtook them.

When found afterward, writhing in pain on the blackened ground, they were still clinging to one another. In the confusion they were sent to different hospitals. The physicians gave almost no hope for their recovery from the first, but the stricken family, even after Charles had succumbed to his burns, held on to the last glimmering hope that the other little fellow would be spared, and the blow of yesterday fell with almost unabated force.

Sheraden's Day of Mourning.

Yesterday was a day of mourning in Sheraden. Four interments, two funerals and services over the remains of one of the dead were held in the borough. All of these funerals and interments were in charge of two ministers, who by evening were almost tired out. The borough schools were dismissed for the day immediately after roll call in the morning. In Carnegie also one victim was laid away amidst the tears of friends and relatives.

On Wednesday night funeral services were held over the remains of Elmer E. Hunter, the Panhandle railroad conductor who met his death Monday. The same evening the Rev. Herbert Hezlep of the Presbyterian church of Sheraden held services over the body of Donald Smith. Both interments were held yesterday morning in Hollywood cemetery.

The Rev. Mr. Hezlep was also in charge of the funeral of William H. Fife, the 10-year-old son of Alvin Fife, who was buried yesterday afternoon in Unlondale cemetery, Allegheny. It was a very pathetic one, as the dead boy had been a general favorite and was well known to almost every person in the borough.

The Rev. Mr. Hezlep was assisted in conducting the services by five other ministers.

A Pathetic Scene.

The small house of the Fifes was filled to overflowing by the many friends and relatives of the dead boy. A quartet sang during the service. The pall-bearers were young boys who attended school with young Fife and had known him well. They were Harold Stevenson, Thomas Leffey, Ross Whaley and Lawrence Campbell.

The Fife home was filled with flowers. The services were held at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The casket was opened and people were permitted to gaze for the last time upon the dead boy's features. His face looked very lifelike and was not disfigured much by the blast of flame which cost his life.

At the conclusion of the services the casket was closed for the last time and covered with flowers was borne out through the bright afternoon sunshine to the white hearse which awaited it. When the mourning parents and relatives had been seated in carriages the long journey to Unlondale cemetery, in Allegheny, was started and there, in the Fife family plot, the little casket was interred.

Another Boy Victim.

The Rev. W. D. Slease, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Sheraden, who has been taking part in almost all of the funerals in the borough, conducted services yesterday afternoon over the corpse of George Wilson, the son of George D. Wilson of Pennsylvania avenue. Young Wilson was 15 years old and had recently left school and started to work.

Many of the people of Sheraden attended his funeral, which lasted until almost 3 o'clock, when the casket was taken to Hollywood cemetery for interment. The Rev. Mr. Slease made a few remarks, but stated before he started that so many funerals had tired him out and made it almost impossible for him to say what he would otherwise give utterance to.

No other ministers took any part in the services. The choir of the Methodist Episcopal church of Sheraden, of which the Wilson family are members, sang. The casket was opened to allow his friends to look for the last time upon his face, burned and blackened though it was.

The pallbearers were chosen from boys of about young Wilson's own age, two from the public schools, two from the Sunday school class which he attended and two from the office in which he worked. They were Arthur Douglas, James Herron, F. R. Rhoads, J. J. Sullivan, J. F. Jessup and Harry Kelly.

Others Were Buried.

At the conclusion of the services the casket was taken to Hollywood cemetery, but a short distance from the Wilson home, and there interred with a short service, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Slease.

Quite a number of people, some 75, it is estimated, went to Uhrichsville yesterday to attend the funeral services of Harry F. Smithly, aged 20 years, a leverman in the railroad tower at Sheraden. Young Smithly was one of the first to die after the explosion. He had made many friends during his stay in Sheraden, and most of these attended his funeral, which took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The funeral of J. Lawrence Keenan was held yesterday morning in Carnegie. Requiem high mass was said in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, and the interment took place in Olivett cemetery. Young Keenan was an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and was very well known in Carnegie. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in the borough.

Funeral services over the body of Albert O. Berry were held last night at 8 o'clock at his father's home in American avenue, Sheraden. The interment will take place this morning. The Rev. Mr. Hezlep of the Presbyterian church of Sheraden had charge of the service.

The funeral of John Hanson, who died at the Homeopathic hospital as a result of the Sheraden explosion, will take place this morning from his home on Jane street, Carnegie. He was 25 years of age and is survived by his wife and several children. Mass will be celebrated in the Polish Catholic church of Carnegie.

FORMER NATIVE OF MARTINIQUE TELLS OF ISLAND

The Rev. Father Zell of Millvale Anxious for Friends in St. Pierre.

LIVED THERE FIVE YEARS

As Instructor in College of St. Louis DeGonzaga He Knew Country About Mt. Pelee—Thinks Some People Had Warning and Escaped.

Probably the latest arrival in Pittsburgh from the ill-fated island of Martinique is the Rev. Father Peter Zell, who is the priest in charge of St. Anthony's German Catholic church, Millvale. Father Zell left St. Pierre, the principal city of the isle of Martinique, which has been reported destroyed by the volcanic eruption, last August.

Father Zell was in Martinique for five years, and during the greater part of this time was an instructor in the college of St. Louis de Gonzaga, controlled by the Order of the Holy Ghost. He left on account of his sight, which was becoming impaired.

Being one of the best instructors of the institution, Mgr. Alexandre Le Roy, bishop of Alinda and superior general of the Order of the Holy Ghost, was averse to having Father Zell leave the institution, but decided on account of the condition of his eyes that he would allow him to come to America. After he left St. Pierre last August Father Zell went immediately to Paris for treatment. He then came to Pittsburgh, arriving here last January.

He does not think all the people of St. Pierre are dead.

Hopes for Better News.

Father Zell had a personal acquaintance with most of the priests and students at the college and the news of the eruption and the reported loss of life has come as a personal grief to him. Many of his most intimate friends were still in St. Pierre and he is waiting with the utmost anxiety for further news from the city and the official lists of those who perished in the eruption.

He is hoping that the loss of life will not turn out to be so great as reported and that the college and its inmates have escaped the terrible fate that overtook so many thousands of the inhabitants of Martinique. So far he has received no word of the friends he left behind, but thinks that some of them at least have escaped the almost universal destruction. He said last night:

"While I realize that there has been a terrible disaster on the isle by the volcanic eruption of Mont Pelee, I do not believe that such a large part of the inhabitants of the city of St. Pierre are dead.

"All reports go to show that the first sign of smoke from the volcano appeared on Ascension morning. At this time a great many of the residents of the city would be on their way to the cathedral and would take warning and flee for their lives.

Would Heed Warning.

"This was evidently a warning, and, having been on the island myself for the past five years, I know enough about the people to say positively that they would certainly heed this warning and flee from the city.

"One reason that strengthens my belief is that in the list of dead occur the names of priests who have not been on the island for years. They were there at one time, but have long since been called to other spheres. The names of any of the new priests who are supposed to have perished in the disaster are not given, and from this I feel confident they have escaped.

"The cathedral was always thronged on Sundays, and also on special days. I have known as high as 25,000 persons to be in attendance at services in a single day. The ill-fated city was not as wicked as the newspaper reports tend to show. Of course there were good and bad people in the city the same as in any other city in the world, but St. Pierre was not especially noted for its wickedness.

Compliments "The Gazette."

"The picture published in The Gazette yesterday morning is the best I have seen yet printed. There is no railroad or street car connection between St. Pierre and Fort de France. The only way to get from one city to the other is to drive the entire distance.

"The students in the College of St. Louis de Gonzaga were in most cases wealthy in their own right. They were supplied with all the money they wanted and spent their francs just as an American would spend dollars.

"This picture was taken at the door of the cathedral on June 21, 1899, on the occasion of the return of the bishop. This was always a noted event in St. Pierre. When Bishop Tanaux visited St. Pierre annually the residents of the city turned out to do him honor, and from this view you may see the vast concourse of people.

"The heat of the day was so intense that many of the priests and people attending the exercises were compelled to carry umbrellas. Only the north door of the cathedral is visible and near that Bishop Tanaux is standing delivering his address to the people."

The picture referred to by the Rev. Father Zell was kindly lent by him to The Gazette, and is reproduced in this issue.

College in Heart of City.

Father Zell says the college is situated in the fort district of St. Pierre, in the heart of the city. Twenty-four priests, three brothers and two lay teachers were stationed there, the laymen being instructors in music and athletics. Eighty students boarded at the school and 350 day students received instruction.

It is a two hours' walk to the summit of Mt. Pelee. The lake, which lay in the crater, was filled with limpid water, which supplied the reservoirs of the city. One could walk around it in 40 minutes. Of Martinique's total population of 175,000, St. Pierre contained 35,000.

ROOSEVELT ASSURES SPAIN OF FRIENDSHIP

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MADRID, May 15.—The United States special envoy to the coronation of King Alfonso, Dr. Curry, presented this morning President Roosevelt's letter to his majesty, as follows:

Great and Good Friend:—In the name of and in behalf of the government and the people of the United States, I desire to present their sincere felicitations on the occasion of your majesty's majority and to assure you of their friendship and good wishes for the welfare of your majesty and your majesty's people. I trust your life will be long and happy, and that your reign will live in the affections of your people and bless them with peace, prosperity and happiness, and I pray God to have you in His safe and holy keeping. Your good friend, ROOSEVELT.

The marquis of Willalobar, a former secretary of the Spanish legation at Washington, and an old friend of Dr. Curry, called for the doctor at 10:15 a. m. and drove with him to the palace in a royal landau. Dr. Curry and Mr. Simpkins, the secretary of the special embassy of the United States, were ushered into the royal reception hall immediately after the papal nuncio, and before all the other envoys.

The queen regent was simply dressed in silver and gray. King Alfonso wore a dark blue naval cadet uniform. Both their costumes were in striking contrast with the gorgeous uniforms and robes of the courtiers and ladies in waiting. The queen regent gave Dr. Curry an extremely cordial welcome.

The United States envoy made a short address, the text of which had been submitted to President Roosevelt before Dr. Curry left Washington. He said:

The president of the United States gladly avails himself of this method of showing the friendly regard which he has for the government and people of Spain. He is confident that this mission will strengthen the cordial relations now happily subsisting between the two countries.

The queen regent recalled Dr. Curry's previous stay as minister of the United States at Madrid and alluded with satisfaction to the pleasant relations which then existed between the minister and the court.

After this Dr. Curry handed President Roosevelt's letter to the king, who smiled and said in English:

"I am glad to see you. You were here when I was born."

An unusually large crowd visited the art studio of the Allegheny School of Art in the Allegheny Carnegie library last night. The occasion was the fourth annual exhibition and reception given by the pupils of the school. Hundreds of people visited the studio, where the year's work of the students was on exhibition. Prizes for the best work done were awarded during the evening.

The work of the portrait, sketching and composition classes were hung about on the walls of the lecture room, which, with the stairway leading to the room, was decorated with ferns and palms. The officers, students and instructor of the school acted as a reception committee.

The character of the work and the large number of pictures shown, with the lively interest the visitors showed, argues well for the future of the school, which during the past year has made a wonderful advance. The indications are that during the coming year the school will more than repeat its record of last year in arousing interest in art.

For the best work in each of the five classes prizes of $25 were awarded as follows: In the sketching, composition and women's life classes Miss Mary McBride won the first prizes. Miss Gertrude R. Scott was awarded the first prize in the portrait class. Others who received mention were as follows: Portrait class, Miss Mary McBride, second; Miss R. B. Oliver, third, and Walter R. Van Asdale, fourth. In the composition class Miss Scott received second mention and Miss Oliver third. In the sketching class Miss Mary Hudson received second mention and Miss Oliver, third. In the women's life class Miss Scott received second mention and Miss Oliver third. In the men's life class Mr. Van Asdale was awarded the first prize and R. F. Fallert received second mention and Charles Kleehauer third.

In the portrait class the painting was good and the light and shade form very clever. In the composition class particular attention was given to the making of good lines. In the exhibits of the sketching class the work was all very good. Two paintings in the women's life class, by Miss Oliver, showed a good understanding of form and lights and shadows. The figures are well drawn and have a good color.

There were also two miniature portraits on exhibition for the first time since the school was established. The miniatures were the work of Mrs. S. C. Wilson of Beaver.

The school was established four years ago by 10 young women and since the opening persistent effort has brought the school to the front. At first the students were almost unable to secure models, but this predicament was gradually overcome until during the past year little trouble was found in securing people to pose. The models are often secured by the students from among the frequenters of the library reading rooms and also from among the pupils of the school. Last year the art school secured a model from New York.

The members of the board of control are: President, Miss Rebecca B. Oliver; vice presidents, Miss Mary Hudson and W. D. Van Asdale; secretary, Sara Seely, and treasurer, Mabel Farren. John Henley Ross of New York is the instructor.

Among the visitors last night was Howard Hildebrand of Allegheny, who had a painting on the line in the last Paris salon, and George Carspecken of Allegheny, who sold a picture he had on exhibition at the Pittsburgh Carnegie institute last fall to Andrew Carnegie.

VOTING CLOSES AT MIDNIGHT, JUNE 7.

This BALLOT cut from The Pittsburgh Gazette of FRIDAY, May 16, 1902. If received at our office before MIDNIGHT OF JUNE 7, Counts ONE VOTE for SERIES L 1 VOTE.

Name.....

School.....

Town..... County.....

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE and CHRONICLE TELEGRAPH.

Send all ballots to Excursion Department, Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph. Ballots not legibly filled out will not be counted. Last ballot will be printed May 31, 1902. Ballots from Sunday Gazette count three votes.

ALL BALLOTS MUST BE IN BY MIDNIGHT, JUNE 7.

THE START OF THE LAST SERIES

Bear in Mind That All Ballots Must Be in by Midnight of June 7.

This morning the teachers' contest for the grand tour of Europe offered by Pittsburgh's leading newspapers, the The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, enters upon the last series of ballots, series L. The contest has been interesting throughout, and at the present moment is intensely exciting. It is a close race, and everybody is anxious to know who the winners are to be. This anxiety is natural, and it is shared by the publishers of the papers.

To forward the universal desire it has been decided to require all ballots of this last series to be deposited within one week after its close—that is, before midnight of June 7. That is imperative. But the candidates and their friends may still further facilitate the counting by getting their ballots in as soon as possible; not only series L, but series K as well, which closed yesterday.

How to Hurry the Count.

They need not be held back to accumulate in imposing bundles, but should be hurried in so the counting may be continuous from the closing of the series. Only those who have had to deal with it know the magnitude of the task of counting these ballots. If they are held back to the last moment it will be a practical impossibility to complete the count in less than two weeks. That would delay the announcement until the last week in June, and the party sails the first week in July. On the other hand if ballots are sent in from day to day so the enumerators can go ahead, the result may be known fully a week sooner. That will give reasonable time for preparation for the voyage, and mind the tour.

The party will leave Pittsburgh on the evening of July 3, traveling to New York by special Pullman train. July 4 will be spent in New York. On July 5 the party will embark on board the Atlantic Transport Company's steamer, Minnehaha. The Minnehaha is a modern steamship, not in the ocean greyhound class, but is more comfortable than the swift express steamers.

Delightful Voyage Assured.

With reasonable weather the voyage should be one of the most delightful portions of the tour, and attended with very little seasickness, if any. The Minnehaha is one of those broad-keeled vessels which careen very little, and its bulk is not much affected by the jar of machinery or thrust of the propeller. Good weather is naturally expected in July.

There have been many inquiries from friends of teacher candidates about accommodations in case they decided to go along. All of these have been individually answered to the effect that if possible The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph would arrange for additional passengers. We regret to say the Minnehaha has been completely sold out. There is not a spare berth. All accommodations not reserved for the teachers' party were disposed of immediately after our arrangement was made. Negotiations are still pending, however, and should anyone give up any room engaged it will be secured for the friends of The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, and due notice will be given.

Once more we appeal to our friends to hurry in the ballots of the last series. Send in all you can along with series K, and the remainder, in lots, as soon after May 31 as possible. Compliance with this request will end the strain of uncertainty at least a week sooner than if ballots are held back.

NEW ERUPTION IS PREDICTED

the chamber of commerce this afternoon appointed Abram S. Hewitt, chairman; Gustave H. Schwab, vice chairman; George W. Wood, secretary, and Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer. An executive committee of 15 was appointed, with Gustav H. Schwab chairman. The matter of sending Red Cross nurses to the island was brought up by Mr. Hewitt, and William T. Wardwell, the president of the New York Red Cross society, said he would submit a proposition to the executive committee.

Mr. Bliss announced that subscriptions could be sent to his representative at the Fourth National bank or to the secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The members of the New York branch of the national relief committee and the representatives of the Merchants' association met with the executive committee, Mr. Schwab presiding. Mr. Schwab announced that W. R. Corwine, who had considerable experience in relief work in Porto Rico, had been instructed to proceed to Martinique and St. Vincent by the steamer Fontabelle, sailing on Saturday, to investigate conditions and recommend measures of relief.

FOOD FOR A MONTH.

No Chance for Famine in Desolated Islands After United States Relief Ships Arrive.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—It is said at the war department that the supplies and stores shipped to Martinique and St. Vincent on the cruiser Dixie from New York and on the collier Sterling from San Juan undoubtedly will be sufficient to meet the urgent needs of the suffering people for fully a month to come.

Secretary Root has authorized the officers of the commissary department in New York to purchase any additional supplies that may be necessary to supplement those contributed by private persons for shipment to the scene of the disaster. Consequently private donations of flour will be supplemented by a proper supply of yeast by the government, and with codfish and other food supplies which require other articles to make them available for food.

The government already has expended a little over $100,000 of the available appropriation of $200,000, and as much of the balance as necessary will be utilized.

THE WEATHER.

Fair.

More fine weather is predicted for Pittsburgh and vicinity at the local office of the United States weather bureau. It was stated last night that today would be another sunshiny day and that there would only be slightly cloudy an almost clear sky. Yesterday's exceptionally fine weather was somewhat of a surprise to the weather man, as on Wednesday night the indications were for cloudy atmosphere.

What's to Hinder Men From Looking Neat and Smart?

Nothing in the world if they wear the right kind of clothing.

All in the world if they persist in wearing cheap clothing that has that fly-away look.

Neatness of dress in men of any age is something always admirable, and it does not take made-to-measure clothes to acquire this neatness.

We'll engage to show men some of the dressiest suits they ever saw for as little as $15, $18 and $20—good enough for the man of affairs, good enough for the mechanic, good enough for any man.

Will you look in today or tomorrow and talk the matter of Summer dress over with us?

For $12.50—Sack Suits of pure wool, such as fancy mixtures in gray and dark brown stripes and plain steel gray cheviots.

For $15—Sack Suits of tan brown rough Scotch tweeds, blue cheviot with white stripe, overplaids in brown cheviot, dark brown unfinished worsted with small indistinct stripe.

For $18—Sack Suits of wide weave tweed in two shades of gray; Scotch cheviot in brown interwoven with light stripes, and dark green with blue check effect.

For the same price of $18—Two-button double-breasted Flannel Suits—gray with a wide stripe.

For $20—Nobby shades of light gray and light brown effects in vicuna, dark steel gray with hair-line stripe in unfinished worsted, fine dark mixture with gray check in soft unfinished cassimere, green and gray mixture with indistinct plaid in unfinished worsted.

For $22, $25 and $30, we show the best cloths of foreign make. From these cloths the suits are made especially for us, and the fine work put upon them can only be understood by seeing them. There are suits of silk lined homespun in a light brown shade, cheviots with an olive stripe intermingled with a dark green overplaid, soft finished vicunas in a solid color of light gray, French flannels with silk stripe, and a dark gray herring-bone weave.

For $28 there are suits of black and gray Bannockburn worsteds, the very finest material for natty suits—something that made-to-measure would cost $50.

Young men's Suits for $10, that comprise every late style that young men will wear this Summer—fancy mixtures of cheviot, blue serges and black cheviot.

For $12.50—Suits of dark gray worsted, light colored checks and plaids in Scotch tweeds, and most any desirable pattern for young men.

In the range beginning at $15 and going to $22—the very best examples of what young men wear are shown—suits that they would have to pay as much again for if they were made to measure.

MINERS DECIDE ON CONTINUANCE OF THE STRIKE

Anthracite Coal Workers of Eastern Pennsylvania to Remain Idle.

MITCHELL IS DISREGARDED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Hazleton, Pa., May 15.—The anthracite mine workers in convention late this afternoon decided to continue the strike of the 145,000 men. The matter of calling out the engineers, firemen and pump runners will be decided by the delegates tomorrow. The vote to continue the suspension was as follows: Total vote cast 811; for strike 461½; against strike 349½; majority for strike 111½.

The step taken today by the miners, after practically considering the matter for two months, has wiped out the uncertainty of the situation. Mine workers for 28 months have been looking forward to the strike that is now upon them. They have saved their money and are considered to be in better shape today for a fight _____ in the great strike of 1900.

The operators are on record as being unalterably opposed to granting the men any concessions and they have personally informed the mine workers' leaders of that fact. The workmen fear the present fight may mean the destruction of their organization.

President Mitchell's advice to the miners was for peace and he gave it to them in the plainest and most forceful of language. He was ably assisted by President Fahy and Secretary Hartlein of the lower district and Secretary Dempsey of the upper territory. President Nichols of the First district was the champion of the strike advocates. Mr. Mitchell, who was the last to speak, was listened to with the greatest attention.

It is said that a telegram was read from the American Federation of Labor against a permanent suspension. But the delegates would not listen and amid considerable suppressed excitement the vote was taken.

The news of the convention's action has caused considerable depression. Business has been paralyzed to a certain extent and it will probably come to almost a standstill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna appeared like a man who had heard very unwelcome news when he was informed this evening of the action of the miners in deciding to strike. He declined to make any statement further than to say that he was very sorry that the strike must go on. Senator Hanna worked with all the energy and resources at his command to avert the strike and his influence was exerted up to the very last.

Senator Hanna has not abandoned hope of settling the trouble. He will probably address himself to the task of bringing about a settlement with greater energy than ever. He settled the hard coal strike of 1900 after it had been in progress for two months and he prevented a strike a year ago by bringing the miners and operators together in the office of J. P. Morgan.

MARRIED AGAINST HER WILL.

Girl Blames Her Father for Urging Undesirable Ceremony.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—Luella, the 16-year-old daughter of Lewis Johnston of this place, complained to Justice Piper that through threats by her father of being sent to Morganza she was forced, on May 5, to marry Joseph Davis, a huckster, with whom she refused to live.

She says the marriage was performed by Clerk of Courts Philip Crowl at Beaver and she was so badly frightened that she could enter no protest. The girl cried bitterly and seemed to be in great distress. The matter has been put into the hands of Humane Agent McKee.

FIVE BURNED IN HOTEL FIRE

Guests Lose Their Lives Without Warning at Pt. Pleasant, West Virginia.

TWO RESIDENCES CONSUMED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PT. PLEASANT, W. VA., May 15.—Early this morning fire originating in the American hotel caused five deaths, destroyed that building and the residence of the Hon. Rankin Wiley, adjoining, one of the most beautiful in the city, and also the residence of Mr. Kipling and a butcher shop. Five persons sleeping in the hotel, mostly farmers attending court, were incinerated and their bodies recovered from the ruins.

The dead are:

JACOB SLACK.
ELZA HAMBRICK.
JOHN WOODALL.
COON WOODALL.
LEE CARLISLE.

The latter was a riverman, well-known along the Kanawha and Ohio rivers.

The hotel was a frame structure and was one of the oldest buildings in the city. The flames spread so rapidly that the guests were cut off from exit before they could be aroused. The hotel was situated opposite the court house on one of the principal streets. Because of the inflammable nature of the structure, very little headway could be made by the fire department when they arrived.

The loss will be something like $15,000, with very little insurance, except on the residence of Mr. Wiley, which was fully insured.

COKE PRODUCTION ON THE INCREASE

Connellsville Ovens Promise to Break All Records of the Region.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., May 15.—The Courier will say tomorrow:

Coke production in the Connellsville region this week promises to eclipse all previous records. The same can also be said of the operations in the Lower Connellsville field. All over the region this week promises of a six-day run were made. Cars were plentiful the early part of the week and the railroads hold out the assurance that they could keep up the pace until tomorrow. All of the big plans were scheduled for a full run, and many of the smaller operators were counting on six days. In case they do, production should go over 250,000 tons for the first time since coke was made in the Connellsville region, and shipments should be correspondingly great.

The detailed report of the operation and output of the region for the week ending on Saturday, May 10, shows a total of 21,421 ovens, of which 16,621 were active and 804 were idle, a loss in the active ovens of six, occasioned by the blowing out of that many at the Hill Farm plant of the Dunbar Furnace Company. No other changes were reported. The estimated production was 221,140 tons, compared with 220,797 tons the previous week.

The new Semet-Solvay ovens at Dunbar will be ready to fire up by the latter part of the summer, it is expected, which will give the Dunbar Furnace Company a better supply for its stocks at Dunbar. Seventy ovens at Parish are also to be blown in before long, a little strip of coal that was left a number of years ago having become accessible through a new slope opening.

Shipments for the week aggregated 11,649 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 3,860 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 5,570 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 2,219 cars. This was a decrease of 326 cars, compared with the shipments for the previous week.

The estimated production in the Lower Connellsville region last week was 43,675 tons, the same tonnage as the previous week. The total number of ovens remains unchanged, 3,292, of which 2,855 were active and 367 were idle. Shipments in this district last week were 860 cars, compared with 937 cars the previous week.

HARRISBURG, PA., May 15.—Six canvasmen were injured, three of them seriously, in a wreck of the canvas and wagon train of Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' circus this morning at Marysville. The injured were brought to the Harrisburg hospital, after three of them left for York to join the circus.

STEUBENVILLE, May 15.—(Special.)—Esther Novins, a pretty Jewess, was given a verdict of $5,000 in a breach of promise suit against Meyer Wasserman of Zanesville today.

LAW AROUSES LIQUOR MEN

Ohio Retail Dealers Combine to Combat Local Option Legislation.

TOWNS ARE BECOMING DRY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—The State Retail Liquor Dealers' League, the Royal Arch and the Knights of Fidelity at a conference held here today decided to federate for the purpose of resisting the advances of the temperance element, and especially the operation of the Beal local option law passed by the legislature which adjourned Monday.

Out of 12 towns which have held elections under the law 11 have voted "dry" and the liquor element is seriously alarmed. The object of the federation is to bring together all the retail liquor dealers of the state. Having accomplished this the federation will undertake to protect and promote the interests of the trade against hostile legislation.

The Anti-Saloon league, which secured the passage of the Beal law, looks upon the union as an admission of weakness in the local liquor interests.

The new organization is called the Ohio Federation of Retail Liquor Dealers. Its officers are: President, Owen Kane, Cleveland; secretary, P. J. McCafferty, Columbus; executive board, John Valerous of Cincinnati, Owen Kane and Harry Brockman of Cleveland, and W. J. Murphy and O. J. McCafferey of Columbus.

JUDSON IS BURGESS.

Washington County Court Settles Dispute Arising From Consolidation of Boroughs.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—The question as to who should be the burgess of Washington borough, as reorganized since the annexation of North Washington, was decided here today, when Judge McIlvaine handed down a decision to the effect that Burgess Frank Judson of Washington borough was the rightful burgess of the consolidated towns.

Burgess James E. Wilson of North Washington, who contended for the place, was awarded a place in the borough council. The question was the source of much controversy and Burgess Wilson of North Washington had secured a writ of quo warranto against Burgess Judson, requiring the latter to show by what authority he held the position of burgess in the new borough.

At a meeting of the Washington borough council tonight, composed of the joint councils of Washington and North Washington, William E. Brown of the Second ward, was elected president over the present incumbent, Winfield McIlvaine, the vote standing 15 to 7. William H. McEnroe was continued as borough clerk.

NOT RECOMMENDED FOR EVERYTHING

But if You Have Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble, You Will Find Swamp-Root Just the Remedy You Need.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

(Swamp-Root is pleasant to take.)

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE SWAMP-ROOT.

"I have prescribed that wonderful remedy for kidney and bladder complaints, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, with most beneficial effect and know of many cures by its use. These patients had kidney trouble, as diagnosed by other physicians, and treated without benefit. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root effected a cure. I am a liberal man and accept a specific wherever I find it, in an accepted school or out of it. For desperate cases of kidney or bladder complaint under treatment with unsatisfactory results I turn to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root with most flattering results. I shall continue to prescribe it and from personal observation state that Swamp-Root has great curative properties."

L. BARSTOW IRISH, M. D.,
Sept. 24, 1901. 276 9th St., Borough of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering with fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice and is taken by doctors themselves who have kidney ailments, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember, the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE PENNYPACKER CAMPAIGN DATE

CITIZENS' MOVEMENT TO BE LAUNCHED WEDNESDAY.

Will Be Started in Philadelphia and Spread Through the State—A Lieutenant-Governorship Boom Working in Hard Luck.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 15.—Chairman J. H. Moore of the Pennypacker campaign committee announced today that the public meeting of citizens to indorse Judge Pennypacker for the governorship will take place Wednesday afternoon. The outcome of this meeting will be the organization of a citizens' committee that will assume charge of the campaign in this city and throughout the state in the interests of Judge Pennypacker's nomination.

Indorsements of the judge continue to come into the headquarters of the temporary committee at the Union Republican club. Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador to Russia, who is visiting his home in Philadelphia, is one of the most recent to declare his satisfaction over the prospective nomination of Judge Pennypacker. H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh has written the Pennypacker committee indorsing the movement.

HARRISBURG, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—Lehigh county's seven delegates to the Republican state convention may vote for the candidate for governor who can give the most votes to Mayor Fred E. Lewis of Allentown for lieutenant governor. Lewis and his campaign managers were here today in charge of Col. Trexler of Allentown, a member of Gov. Stone's military staff, and spent several hours with Stone, Attorney General Elkin and Public Buildings Superintendent Eyre.

The visitors called upon Senators Quay and Penrose at Washington a few days ago and were given very little encouragement by either of the senators, who are thought of be committed to ex-Senator William M. Brown of New Castle. The Elkinites are believed to be tied up to the Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Flood of Meadville, who will undertake to deliver to the attorney general the delegates chosen at Saturday's Republican primaries in Crawford county, and Lewis and his boomers did not get much satisfaction here. Senator Quay's friends in this city say Lewis does not control the Lehigh delegates and that they will support Quay's candidate for governor.

Elkin claims the two delegates elected today in the Second Schuylkill district and the one delegate elected in the Third district. He received a telegram tonight from W. J. Whitehouse, the stalwart leader of the county, admitting the defeat of the anti-Elkin delegates.

HER TOWNSPEOPLE ASK FOR ACTION

CITIZENS WANT SLAYER OF EDNA VARNER DISCOVERED.

They Cannot Understand Delay in Making Arrests—District Attorney John C. Haymaker Promises Speedy Action. Girls' Mother Wants Mystery Cleared.

On Wednesday County Detective Robert G. Robinson stated that an arrest would be made today in connection with the mysterious death of Edna Varner at the home of S. S. Eagle in Avalon on May 6. Last night District Attorney John C. Haymaker said the arrest would not be made until Monday. In the meantime the people of Petrolia, the town of which the girl was a native, are clamoring for action in the case. A Gazette reporter who visited that place yesterday was besieged by inquiries as to when the Allegheny county authorities would take action on what the Petrolia people consider a ruthless murder.

Mr. Haymaker said last night that in his mind the case had been clearly established as one of murder, and he averred that he was making every effort to bring the slayer of the young girl to justice. In spite of his statement the lack of apparent action in the case is exciting universal comment.

Mother Was Here.

Mrs. William Varner, mother of the slain girl, came from her home in Perrysville, Clarion county, yesterday to Pittsburgh to learn the particulars of her daughter's death. She is grief-stricken by the sad event, but is determined that the mystery shall be ferreted out and the guilty punished. While here she visited the Rev. W. H. Thompson and was told all he knew about the matter.

Mrs. S. S. Eagle is almost prostrated at her home by the nervous strain over the publicity given to the matter. County Detective Robinson says that when he visited her on Tuesday she was very nervous and greatly worried. "Mrs. Eagle," said the county detective, "told me that she wanted to be arrested at once and have the matter cleared up so far as she was concerned.

Told of a Strange Man.

"Mrs. Eagle told me of a strange experience she had with an unknown man on the day before the shooting. She said a man called at the house and represented himself as being an insurance agent. He asked if there were any men about the place. She told him there were none and demanded his business.

"She said he made some incoherent reply about a girl and left the place. Mrs. Eagle described him as having no collar and being of a wild and dissipated appearance."

Detective Robinson thought that the stranger might possibly be the dead girl's step-father. He communicated with the authorities in Petrolia and they attempted to locate him. District Attorney John C. Haymaker said last night that they now had no reason to believe her step-father would do her any violence.

Until yesterday it was the intention of the district attorney to exhume the remains of the dead girl. There was some confusion as to the number of wounds in the girl's body. Mr. Haymaker communicated with Dr. A. L. Howe of Petrolia and received a reply to the effect that the girl was shot in three places. Dr. Howe described the location of the wounds, and it has been definitely determined that they were marks made by the embalmer.

LOWER HOUSE GETS EXCITED ON PHILIPPINES

Personalities and Charges of Falsehood Hurled Back and Forth.

HARD WORK FOR CHAIR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—The house today was plunged into an exciting debate on Philippine affairs. Thus far the subject of alleged atrocities in the islands had engaged the attention of the senate only.

The naval bill was the order, but it received only scant attention, after the allegations of Philippine outrages were presented.

A speech by Mr. Vandiver of Missouri reciting instances of alleged outrages brought on the discussion.

"I have evidence piled mountain high," declared Mr. Vandiver, "of cruelty, extortion, torture, murder, arson and every other crime known to the calendar."

"That is false," exclaimed W. H. Smith, "and I hurl back the charge at the gentleman and call upon him to produce the proofs if he can."

"The proofs are ample and will be presented," said Mr. Vandiver.

"The gentleman ought to be ashamed of himself," interrupted Mr. Smith, "to assail the American army 7,000 miles from home."

Made Work for the Speaker.

Mr. Vandiver responded that his respect for the dictates of humanity was greater than that for soldiers guilty of such cruelty.

There was considerable confusion and the chair had to rap vigorously for order.

Mr. Hill of Connecticut detailed a visit he paid to Gen. Smith's headquarters in the Philippines and added:

"I found the department of Gen. Smith in peace and quietness, and yet, while that condition existed, this incident actually occurred: A company of Tagalogs, the Filipino army, if you choose to call it such, descended upon a village of peaceable Filipinos and destroyed that village; murdered men, women and children; and if the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Vandiver) desires a specimen of barbarity, I want to tell you what they did to loyal Filipinos and Americans. They took men out and tied them to ant hills, six or eight feet high and six feet in diameter, filled with ants that are absolutely ravenous and eat up everything they come in contact with. They tied these men to ant hills and allowed them to be eaten to death by ants.

"They buried them in the ground up to their necks and allowed them to be pecked to death by the birds and eaten by the rats. They took loyal Filipinos and loyal Americans and cut them open, taking out a portion of the bowels and nailing it to a tree and driving them around the tree with holes while they disemboweled themselves; and yet you gentlemen stand here and condemn American soldiers for standing by the men who are loyal to the American flag and who are suffering such outrages as these.

"Talk about water cures! Fight your political battles decently. Do not attempt to do it by slandering American soldiers in the performance of their duty." (Applause on the Republican side.)

"He should remember," said Mr. Hepburn, "that the army he attacks is our army; that these boys are our boys; that they have been reared in American homes, and he should not in the house join the libelers and slanderers in traducing our American soldiers."

Believes Samar Order a Lie.

Mr. Williams of Mississippi asked if Mr. Hepburn defended the order to make Samar a "howling wilderness."

"I believe that is a lie," responded Mr. Hepburn. "I believe no American officer ever made such an order. I believe it to be a slander, pure and simple."

Mr. Grow of Pennsylvania recalled the horrors of warfare at Gettysburg, Atlanta and on other bloody fields. He maintained that such conditions necessarily are incident to warfare and that the course of our forces in the Philippines is in pursuance of the established usages of war.

An extended speech by Mr. McLaurin of Mississippi in opposition to the pending Philippine government bill was a feature of today's session of the senate. The Mississippi senator vigorously assailed the administration's policy in the Philippines.

NOTHING IN THE STORY.

Report of Absorption of Crucible Steel Co. Is Flatly Denied.

Because the stock of the Crucible Steel Company had an advance in the stock market yesterday the same old rumor that the company was to be absorbed by the United States Steel Corporation cropped out again. The rumor has done faithful service ever since the United States Steel Corporation was organized.

A leading officer of the company was asked last night if there was anything in the report.

"There is not a word of truth in it," he said.

"Is there any deal on having for a purpose the absorption of the company?"

"No, there is not."

Director McCandless Reduces Force.

Director J. Guy McCandless of the department of public works yesterday discharged three men from the bureau of deed registry, fearing that the appropriation for the bureau would be exhausted before the end of the fiscal year. The men discharged were D. A. Rhine, W. H. Maddock and G. H. Lamb. The force in this bureau was increased a year ago when H. M. Bigelow was director.

FRIENDS THINK M'CLEAVE MAY RUN

STILL URGING HIM TO CONSENT TO BE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

In Case He Declines, There Is Talk of Nominating Dr. W. J. Holland—John F. Steel Mentioned for a Place on Citizens Ticket.

Friends of Johns McCleave are still hopeful that he will consent to be a candidate for congress in the city district. Mr. McCleave said yesterday that he was still thinking.

In the event of the refusal of Mr. McCleave to be a candidate some of the friends of Dr. W. J. Holland think that he might be induced to enter the field. The doctor has been spoken of before, but he has never given any intimation that he intended to be a candidate.

Ex-Senator William Meredith of Kittanning was in Pittsburgh yesterday. He says that he was always of the opinion that Elkin would get the delegates from Armstrong, because Indiana and Armstrong are in the same congressional district.

Republicans are watching the Tioga primaries. They will be held May 31, and Pennypacker, Watres and Elkin have registered. There were three sets of delegates in the field, but the men on one slate have withdrawn. They represented the insurgent wing of the party and say that they have withdrawn because there is no candidate in the field representing their faction. It was given out that these men were running in the interest of Col. Watres. He denies that he had a slate, but says he expects to carry the county. The candidate who receives a majority of the votes will get the delegates, even though the candidates for delegates running in the interest of another gubernatorial aspirant are elected.

Mayor R. J. Black of McKeesport has announced that he will fight with the Citizens party. The mayor some time ago wanted to succeed William Flinn in the senate, but Thomas J. Ford of Etna was slated. It may be that Black will get the Citizens nomination.

John F. Steel, vice president of the Columbia National bank, and David Collingwood are talked of for county treasurer on the Citizens ticket. Mr. Steel is a cousin of Thomas S. Bigelow. Mr. Collingwood has been an anti-machine Republican for a number of years. It is said that James F. Richards is telling his friends that he can have the nomination for sheriff on the Citizens ticket if he desires it. He is a deputy sheriff and has served a term as sheriff.

PROHIBITIONISTS MAKE NOMINATIONS

Full County and Congressional Tickets Placed in the Field in Allegheny County.

The Prohibition party of Allegheny county held a convention yesterday in the Allegheny Carnegie music hall. Maj. R. W. A. Simmons presided in the absence of Homer L. Castle, the permanent chairman. The Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church welcomed the delegates, and S. Harper Smith responded. There were about 30 delegates.

The Rev. Dr. Van Kirk made an address on "Necessity for a Third Party." The Rev. Dr. C. H. Mead of New York made an address on the work of the Prohibition party in general. A platform was adopted outlining the principles of the party, inviting dissatisfied members of the Republican and Democratic parties to join the ranks of the Prohibitionists, deploring the fact that the ships which bear missionaries to our colonial possessions also bear thousands of barrels of whisky and other intoxicants; approving the action of the government in abolishing the army canteen and condemning the action of the soldiers in the Philippine Islands toward the rebels there. The following candidates for county offices were nominated:

Judge of common pleas court No. 1, J. W. Neom, of Elizabeth; judge of orphans' court, W. George Negley, of Pittsburgh; sheriff, W. C. Wallace, M. D., of Ingram; clerk of courts, G. R. Briggs, of Mt. Washington; register of wills, J. H. Watts of Esplen; recorder of deeds, H. C. Sawyer, of Ingram; county commissioners, E. J. Phillips of McKeesport, and I. B. Johnson of Oakmont; county controller, T. C. Baldinger, of McKeesport.

For congress—Twenty-ninth district, Rev. E. L. Eaton; Thirtieth district, J. W. Houston; Thirty-first district, William A. Avey; Thirty-second district, Frank H. Taylor.

For state senator—Forty-second district, C. L. Rose; Forty-fourth district, F. C. Britton.

For the state legislature—First district (to be filled); Second district, J. F. McClelland and Charles K. Strobel; Third district, (to be filled); Fourth district, (to be filled); Fifth district, W. Ekes, L. O. Beam, W. R. Zeigler and E. E. Arrowsmith; Sixth district, Porter Phipps and Charles B. Allison; Seventh district, (to be filled); Eighth district, Warren Douglas.

Delegates and alternates to the state convention were chosen.

DEFICIT OVER $28,000.

Pittsburgh Orchestra Had a Successful Season in Spite of the Usual Call on Guarantors.

There was carried over from last year by the Pittsburgh orchestra a balance of 65 cents. This year there is a deficit of $28,010 31, or an individual liability on each of the 76 guarantors of $368 56.

The statement was issued yesterday by Chairman W. N. Frew and he gives the report of Treasurer Edward A. Woods. Mr. Woods' figures are as follows:

Disbursements—Musicians' salaries, $18,852; soloists, $6,702 55; conductor and manager's salary, $4,500; postage, telegraph, telephone and express charges, $789 40; office expenses, $689 49; ticket treasurer and door keeper, $600; commission on season tickets, $815; printing and stationery, $1,096 29; hall rental, $1,000; newspaper advertising, $1,087; special, including program book, $2,015 75; auction, $157 05; outside help, $667 45, $2,500 27; interest and discount, $622 77; property, $235 68; music, $1,246 65; foreign engagements, $18,437 35, making the total $60,092 93.

Receipts—Auction sale, $5,849; season ticket sale, $23,770; single admission sale, $8,257 20; foreign engagements, $21,535 08; program advertising, $2,841 66; balance from last year, 65 cents; making the total receipts $62,052 04, and leaving a deficit of $28,010 31. The assessment of each guarantor is $368 56.

Chairman Frew says in his circular to guarantors:

The year just closed was the most important one in the history of the orchestra, as well as the most active. Eighty-one concerts were given during the season, 45 of these outside the regular series in Pittsburgh, and nearly all in other cities. The previous season the total number of concerts was 63. There is no question but what the prestige of the orchestra as an educational influence upon the entire country has been greatly advanced during the past season, and that the organization has a more secure position than at any other time, with the promise of greater usefulness.

PLANS ON FOOT TO ENLARGE THE DUQUESNE GARDEN

Manager Conant Says They Are Certain to Be Realized.

LARGE THEATER PLANNED

Prominent Eastern Architect Has Looked Over the Situation—Seating Capacity to Be 6,000—Grand Opera to Have a Pittsburgh Home.

A new theater, large enough to accommodate 6,000 persons, and fine and handsome enough to satisfy the most exacting, is the idea the management of the Duquesne Garden now has under consideration. The project became noised about in connection with the recent visit of a leading eastern theatrical architect to the garden, which he carefully inspected. That the management is seriously considering the project was admitted last night by Manager James Conant and others in a position to speak with authority on matters pertaining to this popular place of amusement.

For a long time it has been evident to the management of the Duquesne garden that its patronage was deserving of something better even than the delightful place now provided. At the close of the last grand opera season some suggestions were advanced by George H. Wilson, who has so successfully managed Pittsburgh's grand opera seasons. His idea of a larger playhouse met with favor and an architect was summoned to inspect the building. Acting upon his advice the managers have partially formulated plans for remodeling the present structure at a probable cost of $25,000.

After the Metropolitan Style.

The new theater, as planned, will be much after the style of the Metropolitan opera house of New York. Two more stories are to be added, giving room for a larger stage and a greater seating capacity. A rigging loft and "gridiron" will be arranged to care for the scenery which now has to be "tripped." The added height is expected to afford excellent acoustic properties and give a much better display on the stage. Three tiers of boxes will extend from the stage on either side of the house. Instead of a gallery in the center it is proposed to have two side galleries, which, with the boxes, will give the theater a seating capacity of 6,000 persons, or nearly double the number it can now accommodate. The front of the building is not to be altered essentially. A new ceiling elaborately decorated will be perhaps the most attractive of the new embellishments.

Beyond preparing plans for the improvements nothing will be done until next winter. The foundations of the building are amply strong to permit of the proposed additions, and the work can be done during the skating season. After that is closed a month of interior finishing will make the playhouse ready for the summer season.

Improvements Mean Much.

The proposed improvements, if carried out, will mean much to the pleasure loving public of Pittsburgh. Since the Duquesne garden was established it has steadily grown in favor and is now one of the standing attractions of the city. For summer theatergoers it is filling a great want. With the increased capacity the management will be able to offer even better attractions and it already has every assurance that its efforts will be well rewarded. Another and a most important consideration which the management has in view is the providing of a convention hall which will be a credit to Pittsburgh.

Speaking of the project last night Manager Conant said: "Although the scheme may be said to be only under consideration, you may be dead sure it will go through. Next year we will have a playhouse that will be a source of pride to every good citizen. The public has shown by its liberal patronage that it likes the Duquesne garden, both summer and winter, and we propose to make it still more attractive. Not only has it come to be a regular place of going for hundreds of the most cultured people of the city, but they never fail to seize an opportunity to bring their friends here. Then it is drawing, too, from outside. Tonight we have a large party from Wheeling, and a crowd of 10 from Johnstown. We are often hampered for room, chiefly for gallery space, where we can accommodate those who are willing to pay 50 cents."

RALLY OF ENDEAVORERS.

Big Convention to Be Held Here in July Was Discussed.

A rally of Allegheny Christian Eedeavorers was held at the Third United Presbyterian church, Ridge avenue, last evening for the purpose of comparing the work of the societies during the first four months of this year and to discuss how to awaken an interest in Endeavor work.

Some of the features of the coming Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Pittsburgh on July 7, 8 and 9 were told of by J. C. Riter. He said the program for July 8 would be of especial interest to the younger Endeavorers, as it had been set apart as their day, and that the entire program would be rendered by them. Miss Sue Thompson discussed the work of the correspondence committee and told how strangers were made to feel at home through its work.

Hamilton's Organ Sale Offers Buyers Exceptional Opportunities

One of the rarest things in musical merchandising is a legitimate sale of good organs at low prices. But such a sale is now going on at Hamilton's, and it is hardly necessary to say it is attracting a great deal of attention.

The organs included comprise the following makes: Hamilton, Monarch, Clough & Warren, Estey, Wilcox & White and others.

There are chapel, church, parlor and piano case styles. The regular prices range from $76 to $500. The cut prices for this sale range from $36 for parlor and chapel styles to $250 for the finest styles of church organs. New Hamilton organs at $60, $65, $68 and $70; new Monarch organs at $36, $40 and $49; new Estey organs at $80, $85 and $95.

If you cannot possibly attend his sale, write for further details, which will be furnished on application. No one who really desires to own an organ should deprive himself of such a desirable session, for the reason that the prices are now within the reach of all.

Prices quoted in this advertisement are for cash, but easy monthly payments can be arranged at a slight advance.

We are always pleased to furnish detailed information to those interested in musical merchandise, and we are pleased to show goods to all callers.

It is not a matter of making purchasers of them immediately. For we realize that there are hundreds of persons who take an interest in music who are not buying today or tomorrow, maybe, but they are certain to buy later.

And it is a real pleasure to receive calls from those who are just looking around. Suit yourself about purchasing. You are always welcome here.

However, if you want one of these organs you would better not put off coming or sending, for there are not a great many in the present lot and they will be all sold in a very short time.

BAD BACKS IN PITTSBURGH.

Plenty of them here—Hundreds and thousands—The rush and hurry and work of this great city are responsible—People haven't time to take care of aching backs—Doesn't amount to much, they think—Be over in a little while—and so as it goes on from bad to worse—and there's only one end—if it isn't cared for. Kidneys are to blame—too much strain put upon them—they can't do the work nature intends them to do.

Backaches is their cry for help—and you've got to help them if you want to cure the backache—That's what

DOANS KIDNEY PILLS

Are for—to help sick kidneys—And that's what they have been doing here in Pittsburgh and all over the country for years—making sick kidneys well—curing bad backs—making people strong and happy. Proof! There's plenty of it—The testimony of your friends and neighbors—What better could there be? Read this:

PENN AVENUE.

Nelson Lawson, 1420 Penn avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble eight or ten years. It was brought on in the first place, I think, by heavy lifting. There was a constant pain in my back and under the shoulder blades; I had a depressed, weary feeling—too much uric acid in my blood, the doctors said, but they didn't seem able to help me any. The secretions were variable and unnatural. My legs and feet frequently became puffed up and painful. I could not rest comfortably in any position. I tried a number of medicines without effect, until finally, on the advice of a friend, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They relieved me within a few hours, and finally cured me completely. Doan's Kidney Pills have been well named the 'Little Conquerors.'"

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale at all drug stores—50c a box.

CONFERENCES ON RESERVOIR DISPUTE HELD

City Officials Are Visited by Attorneys for Mercantile Trust Company.

NEED OF COURT REVIEW

All Sides Seem Agreed That a Good Opportunity Is Now Offered for a Settlement of Disputed Points in the New Charter.

Attorneys for the Mercantile Trust Company held a conference with Controller Larkin yesterday relative to the trouble at the new Highland reservoir. Controller Larkin said no agreement was reached, but that he thought it likely that at another conference, to be held shortly, the matter would be satisfactorily adjusted.

In the meantime the petition for a mandamus to compel Controller Larkin to accept the April estimate of Keeling & Ridge, the contractors, has been drawn up. It remains to be seen whether it will be presented on Saturday.

After yesterday's conference Controller Larkin was asked whether the trust company had agreed to let engineers selected by the controller inspect the work and the controller said that had not been discussed.

"Is the trust company going to sue you?" he was asked.

"Well, they did not say anything about that," said the controller, "and we may have another talk. I am ready to go into court, however, whenever they are."

After leaving the office of Controller Larkin, Attorney Stephen Stone proceeded to the office of Recorder Brown, where he met Director McCandless and Recorder Brown. He showed them the petition for mandamus and it was discussed. Attorneys representing the city also went over it and all are now satisfied that it is drawn in such a way that it will compel a finding as to the entire powers of the controller. Once started the matter will probably go to the supreme court of the state before it is finished.

When asked, after seeing Mr. Stone, whether it was the intention of the trust company to enter suit against the controller, Recorder Brown said: "I do not know. I scarcely see how they can do anything else. There are many things in the new charter that need reviewing by the court, and it is always well to settle these things early in the contest. There certainly cannot be much more trouble over this charter than there was over the charter of 1887. Everyone concerned would like to see the matter settled."

SOUTH TO INCREASE COAL EXPORT TRADE

Railroads to Be Built and Shipping Facilities Improved on North Carolina Coast.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, MD., May 15.—The movement of southern coal to the seaboard, with the increasing demand for it in commerce, direct and indirect, which has become of such importance to Baltimore, Newport News, Norfolk, Pensacola, Mobile and New Orleans, will be accelerated by the completion of two projects reported in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record. For quite a while the water facilities at Southport, N. C., have been considered in connection with plans for handling foreign and southern products, especially coal. The contract now has been awarded by the Cape Fear Terminal Railroad Company to the Southport Construction Company of Wilmington, Del., for the construction of a railroad 30 miles long between Wilmington and Southport, with barge coal and freight piers at Southport, the contract price being $1,450,000. The awarding of the contract, and at the same time of a contract for the construction of 40 miles of the projected Rutherfordton, Hickory Nut Gap & Asheville railroad, extending west from Rutherfordton, N. C., toward the Tennessee line, indicate a tendency to open the mineral regions of the southern Appalachians by additional railroads and to increase the facilities at southern ports for handling traffic to come out of the mountainous section.

Another contract bearing upon this movement is that secured by the Callahan Construction Company of Knoxville for the building of about 38 miles of the Knoxville, LaFollette & Jellico railroad, which will connect the Louisville & Nashville with the Atlanta, Knoxville & Northern, giving a through line from Cincinnati and Louisville to Atlanta and opening another outlet for the Jellico and adjacent coal fields.

SECRETARY MOODY SPEAKS HIS MIND

Hopes That the Navy Will Be Made So Large War Will Be Impossible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 15.—The naval branch building of the Young Men's Christian association at the Brooklyn navy yard was dedicated today, and Miss Helen Gould in behalf of the Women's auxiliary presented the building to the international committee of the Y. M. C. A.

Secretary of the Navy Moody extended to the Women's auxiliary and the international committee the congratulations of the navy department, and then paid a tribute to Admiral Dewey, who had preceded him, to whom he referred as the "greatest living naval commander in the world." The secretary cited the admiral as authority for his conviction that we "have as good ships and as good officers as the others and the best enlisted men of any navy you can name."

"The navy," he continued, "is to be increased, both in ships and in the number of men who handle them. I hope it will be made so large that, once the increase is accomplished, war will be impossible." Mr. Moody further explained the work that had been done by his department to relieve the distress in the Winward islands, saying that the navy has a task in peace as well as in war.

TREATIES COMPLETE.

All Obstacles Being Overcome, All Three Conventions Will Be Submitted to the Senate Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Negotiations between Secretary Hay and the ministers from Colombia, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, looking to the acquirement of rights for the construction of either the Panama or the Nicaragua canal, at last have been concluded, and tomorrow the secretary will be able to send to the senate three treaties covering the ground.

The treaty with Colombia was completed some weeks ago. The ministers from Nicaragua and Costa Rica were at the state department today and were able to announce that the last obstacles had been removed.

OLD BOULEVARD DISPUTE UP AGAIN

CLAIMS OF WERNEBERG, SHEEHAN & CO. TO BE HEARD.

Director McCandless and Other City Officials Hope the Hitch With the New York Contractors Over Grant Boulevard Can Be Amicably Compromised.

The dispute between the city and Werneberg, Sheehan & Co. over the Grant boulevard will be reopened today. This afternoon Director McCandless of the department of public works will hear the claims of the contractors and attempt to settle the matter amicably. Werneberg, Sheehan & Co. entered suit against the city about a year ago, and an attempt is to be made to get this suit withdrawn. The contractors have never been able to get from the city the money on their final estimate.

George W. Wilson heard the dispute about a year ago, when he was director of the department. The hearing was held in the office of City Attorney Clarence Burleigh, and Mr. Wilson was about ready to submit a plan of settlement when he was ousted from the department by Recorder A. M. Brown. Director McCandless took the matter up shortly after he entered the department, but the contractors were not ready to take the matter up then, and the director agreed to give them an opportunity to get here for the hearing.

Compromise Is Hoped For.

The city will likely be represented this afternoon by James C. Gray of Burleigh & Gray, who was formerly first assistant city attorney and is conversant with the case. The contractors will be represented by Attorney J. J. Miller.

It is hoped by the city officers that some compromise may be reached whereby the matter can finally be closed up and the contractors receive their final estimate.

John C. Sheehan, the well-known New York politician, is expected to be present to represent his firm at the hearing, although the firm of Werneberg, Sheehan & Co. let the work to a sub-contractor, several members of the New York firm being members of the firm that had the sub-contract.

The amount of estimates which have already been accepted by the contractors is $782,892 88. When the final estimate was made by the city it made the actual cost of the work about $850,000. The contractors asked that certain extras be allowed which would push the total cost of construction up to $900,000. Shortly after E. M. Bigelow took charge of the department the last time the company filed the suit.

Total Cost of the Boulevard.

The entire cost of the Grant boulevard to the city is not likely to be known for some time, even should the city allow the final estimate to the contractors to reach the sum of $900,000. Cases are still pending in court where property owners have refused to accept the damages allowed them by the report of the board of viewers on the opening of the boulevard. There are some who predict that when the boulevard is finally clear of all charges due to its construction its cost will have aggregated $1,000,000.

SINGERLY'S PAPER SOLD.

Nominal Purchaser William S. Stenger—Various Rumors About Real Buyers—Guffey Mentioned.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—The Philadelphia Record was today sold for $2,874,000 to satisfy the claims against the estate of the late William M. Singerly. Ex-Secretary of the Commonwealth William S. Stenger, who outbid the Ochs Brothers of the New York Times, W. M. Oelers of the Baltimore Herald and others, was the nominal purchaser. It is rumored that J. M. Guffey, the Pittsburgh millionaire, is behind the deal. It is also said that Frank A. Munsey of New York is the buyer. Other names are mentioned, including the Wanamakers, but nothing definite is known.

The bidding started at $900,000 and jumped to $2,000,000 in sums of from $25,000 to $50,000. Mr. Stenger bid $40,000 more than Mr. Oellers on the last cry. After the stock was sold the Record bonds were disposed of, which, with interest, brings the total amount to be paid by Mr. Stenger to $2,874,000. J. S. McCarteny, secretary of the Record, remarked after the sale that the paper is worth fully $3,000,000.

Attorney Stenger, when questioned as to whom he represented, said: "I purchased the Record in my own name and will take the title to the property, when it is transferred, in my own name. Of course, others are interested with me in the purchase, but at present I have nothing more to say upon that point. I do wish to say, however, that the change of ownership brought about by my purchase will not cause any 'shake-up' in the paper, either in its administration or policy."

OFF FOR WASHINGTON.

Committee to Invite President Here for Fourth of July Celebration Leaves Tonight.

Attorney General Knox has arranged with President Roosevelt to meet the Pittsburgh committee that is to invite him to attend the Fourth of July celebration in this city tomorrow. The committee will leave for the Capital city tonight.

Recorder Brown, when asked if he would accompany the committee, said he thought he would not. "The committee invited me to act as a member," said the recorder, "but I cannot think of any arguments I could advance that the president will not be likely to hear from the committee. There is no doubt that the president will accept the invitation."

PATHETIC RELIC OF MONDAY'S DISASTER

Double Picture Found on Railroad Is Said to Be That of Ill-Fated Fireman Byrd.

Gruesome relics of those who suffered in the disaster at Sheraden Monday were not hard to find on either hillside, or even on the railroad tracks on that awful night. For hours after the explosion they might have been picked up on every hand. But remembrances of the dead and dying bearing no stamp of horror were not so plentiful.

One peculiarly touching bit of personality fell into the hands of a Gazette reporter just after dark. It is a tiny photograph, the kind that are taken at a trifling cost and sent with a few words of affection to loved ones. The likenesses—there are two of the same pleasant faced—are clear and distinct. But around the edges runs a thin jagged brown rim that crumbles at a touch. It was where the fire burned the paper as it was blown from a man's clothing.

The tiny likeness was found on the railroad track not far from the fatal switch lamp by a young boy of Sheraden. In handing it to the representative of The Gazette the lad remarked that he believed the man was dead. Those who knew the man in life say that the face looking out from the dark background is that of Dallas Byrd, the fireman who was instantly killed as he stood by his engine.

NO HARDWARE COMBINE.

The General Opinion Prevails That the Jobbers' Consolidation Will Not Be Put Through.

NEW YORK, May 15.—It is stated by the Iron Age that, in its opinion, the hardware jobbers' consolidation has fallen through.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 15.—A telegram has been received in this city announcing that the hardware combine, known as the National Hardware and Metal Company, has fallen through. The telegram came to the local firms that had entered into the combination from the New York law firm that had charge of the local plans of the combine.

The reason given in the telegram for the collapse of the project was that some of the largest hardware companies announced their withdrawal from the scheme.

The Bindley Hardware Company of Pittsburgh was interested in the consolidation and George B. Hill & Co. were mentioned among those who were slated to do the underwriting. The capital stock was put at $120,000,000 in the first place and afterward reduced to $90,000,000.

Headed by the noble Steinway, the roll of honor includes names that have for years been linked with the best in music.

And to know that such a house is now sacrificing prices all along the line is to be in possession of information that is valuable to every person in need of a musical instrument.

Some of the pianos in this sale have been received from the manufacturers as specimens, others have been used, some few have been rented, but all included in the sale are marked at attractive prices.

Pittsburgh's Menace.

The disaster at Sheraden, with its appalling loss of life and property, emphasizes more than ever the necessity for prompt, vigorous and energetic action on part of the railroads centering in this city looking toward the enlargement of their facilities on an enormous scale. No man can say that the calamity would not have happened if the railroad had been provided with every possible means for handling and dispatching its freight; but it is no less true that the probability of such accidents would be greatly lessened if the tracks, motive power and cars of the railroads were sufficient to move promptly and without congestion the enormous and constantly increasing volume of freight which our industries offer them from day to day. The present lamentable condition is the outgrowth of years of persistent neglect by the railroads of the needs of their best customers and of their own interests as well. Since the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie road first gave us competition, over 20 years ago, Pittsburgh has been growing under our very eyes at a rate that was not appreciated even by our own people who were constantly watching it; and though in the meanwhile the railroads have not stood still, their development has by no means kept pace with our marvelous increase in population and productive capacity.

The Pittsburgh representatives of the railroads are not wholly blameless in this matter. Men like Messrs. Pitcairn and McCrea ought surely to have foreseen at least a part of what was coming, and given the Philadelphia authorities no rest, day or night, until the outlay for the Pittsburgh district was as broad and liberal as its necessities require. It is not too late to move now, but the movement must be of lightning rapidity and stupendous magnitude. Millions upon millions must be spent for land, trackage and equipment, or industries which are projected, and which of right ought to come here, will be located elsewhere for no other reason than because their projectors fear that after their plants are erected the railroads will be unable to handle their products. Prompt action will bring these plants here, and to induce such action, we think something ought to be done, and done at once, by the chamber of commerce as well as by our municipal authorities. If in laying out a broad and comprehensive system of improvement the railroads require municipal legislation they should get it without parley and without delay. The existing condition is a menace—a deadly menace—to Pittsburgh's future. We should understand this at once, and apply every remedy.

Delving Into History.

Senator Vest's correction of Senator Tillman's version of the Hampton Roads conference has naturally provoked some discussion down in Dixie. The Louisville Courier Journal is quite rude to the Missouri statesman. It says he "chatters like a very old man." Of course this is not argument. Very old men, whose memories are in good order and working regularly, are entitled to tell what they know. Mr. Vest was in a position to be accurately informed.

The Courier Journal declares that Mr. Stephens told a dozen witnesses who are still living that Mr. Lincoln did say, "Let me write 'Union' at the top of this page, and you may write beneath it whatever you please." Mr. Vest says that the president asked the commissioners what authority they bore from the Richmond government. On being told that they could treat only on the basis of independence for the confederate states, Mr. Lincoln announced that the conference might as well end right there, as nothing but unconditional and absolute surrender could be considered.

Senator Vest's account carries with it conviction that it is correct. Mr. Lincoln was not the man to act in the way indicated by the other story. The union, of course, had to be preserved, but it is not conceivable that the slavery question could have been left by Mr. Lincoln for the Richmond representatives to settle as they pleased, when it was well known how they would be pleased to settle it. "Unconditional and absolute surrender" is much more characteristic of the great emancipator.

Delegates and Instructions.

The case of the Chester county delegates to the Republican state convention suggests the impropriety of the delegates to a county convention or the members of a county committee arrogating to themselves the right to dictate for whom state delegates shall vote. The Republicans of Chester county voted no instructions at their primaries; yet when the county convention assembled it instructed the seven delegates to the state convention to support Elkin. Since then Judge Pennypacker has appeared in the field, and as he was born in Chester county and has his summer home within its borders there is a large and growing sentiment in his favor, and a demand that the delegates to the state convention shall give him their support. Entirely aside from the question of local pride it ought to be apparent to the Chester county delegates and to everybody else that the instructions are without binding force, and, at best, merely amount to a resolution expressive of the good will of those voting. The Chester county convention was without authority to tie the hands of the delegates to the state convention. Failing instructions from the people the state delegates are left entirely untrammeled to act for the best interests of the party and of the commonwealth.

In many counties instructions were voted in convention or a resolution of indorsement passed before the contest for the nomination for governor had taken form. Such instructions impose neither legal nor moral obligation on the delegates for whose guidance they were intended. Delegates are not mere deputies of limited powers, but represent in their own persons and properly exercise the full authority of those for whom they act. Elected by the people, no intervening body has any right to direct them how or for whom they shall vote. The duty and power of the county convention end with its canvass of the vote and certification of the result.

The Anthracite Strike.

With so large a minority voting against it the strike of the anthracite coal miners cannot be fully justified in the public mind. If the miners themselves are so far from unanimity of sentiment, others cannot be expected to unquestioningly indorse the course that has been decided on. It may be the circumstance that the sentiment of the miners is divided that inspires Senator Hanna with a belief that it is not too late to effect a settlement, and he probably has some ground for the belief he expresses that the miners might have all their demands acceded to except the one relating to wages. If the conservative element among the workers acts on the hint the strike may be of short duration.

Invitation to the President.

President Roosevelt will meet the Pittsburgh invitation committee tomorrow and there is good ground for the hope that he may be prevailed upon to come here for the Fourth of July celebration. The president has never faced a Western Pennsylvania audience, and that fact is likely to be an inducement to him to embrace the opportunity. Of course he knows he has as many admirers here as in any part of the country, who will be glad to welcome him. The occasion will make pertinent any expression he may feel like voicing upon large national questions without partisan bias. All of these things will go in favor of the Pittsburgh invitation. In addition the committee can safely promise the president a celebration worth seeing, from the goat races to the fireworks, and a good time in general. If he wants to see industry, or the strenuous life exemplified in daily practice, there is no better place than Pittsburgh for the purpose.

Limitations of a Czar.

Count Tolstoi's appeal to the czar of Russia might have some force if it was addressed to some one else. But the greatest of autocrats has probably less power to bring about actual reforms in administration than any other monarch of Europe. The theoretical absolutism of the czar is vested in a ministry not always in sympathy with the titular ruler. The emperor of all the Russias is more hedged about than he could be by a constitution. He is menaced by personal danger if he should adopt any liberal policy likely to deprive the nobles of his court of their power to collect the perquisites of office.

Even the impractical Tolstoi is not ignorant of the power behind the throne. He says in the course of his appeal: "Thou alone, dear brother, canst do this, or is there a power stronger than thou art that obstructs thy will?" Though put in the form of a question it is an obvious recognition that such a power does exist, just as such powerful cabals existed in other European states before revolutions gave monarchs the protection as well as the restrictions of constitutional government.

The czar of Russia has, upon more than one occasion, given evidence of his humane disposition. Indeed, it is known that he cares little for the pomp of his mighty position. Were it possible for him to grant a measure of freedom to his subjects that would relieve him of care or responsibility there can be hardly any doubt the boon would be granted. The sinister aspect of the case is that the czar's safety is threatened, whichever course he may take, by Nihilism on the one hand, by conscienceless aristocracy on the other, though the latter if moved to act would doubtless cloak its violence under the other bated name. Such is the evil of the absolute system. What cruelty is not in the heart of the ruler is found in the breasts of the minions about him.

Shelter and Refreshment.

The thousands of Pittsburghers who visit the city parks will derive much satisfaction from the announcement that shelter houses will be built this summer, equipped with refreshment stands and water coolers. According to the plans that have been made public four of these places of shelter are to be constructed in Schenley, the same number in Highland, and each of the smaller parks is to have one, each building being capable of sheltering 200 persons. Visitors to the parks are now at the mercy of the weather, and many have suffered a drenching because of the utter lack of protection from rain. The need has been admitted by those in authority, but not until now has there been anything more tangible than a vague promise. The sheltering capacity of the proposed houses, it is true, is inadequate, but it is a beginning. When public appreciation of these facilities is shown in their use doubtless more will follow.

Lewis F. Nixon, who has separated himself from the titular leadership of Tammany because he couldn't "boss the job," is pictured in the papers as a sweet thing with a love of a mustache. Unless they do him injustice he is evidently not of the proper type to fight with the beasts either at Ephesus or in the jungles of New York.

The vote for moderator in the Presbyterian general assembly bears surface indications that a Western Pennsylvanian might have had the honor had the commissioners united on one candidate.

Guarantors who must make good an orchestra deficit of $5,800 larger than last year's can console themselves with the knowledge that the Chicago guarantors have an increased deficit of $15,000 to meet.

King Alfonso of Spain, at the age of 16, is our "great and good friend." But, really, there is nothing more in a ceremonious address than Juliet saw in a name.

No extra charge is made for the bare knuckle contests at Exposition park. One ticket admits to the whole show.

There is every reason to believe that Pittsburgh will have an unusually strenuous Fourth of July this year.

Senator Hanna seems to have applied the civic federation system to the Rathbone case very successfully.

England will have to exert herself to be kinder to Ambassador Reid than Spain is to Ambassador Curry.

Santos-Dumont talks as though he rather expected Servero's airship would act that way some day.

Coronation objectors might as well be silent, as Mr. Reid says he's going anyhow.

The Haitian government is still subject to change without notice.

Fund for the Relief of the Martinique Sufferers Continues to Grow.

Pittsburghers are responding nobly to the call for funds to relieve the distress among the sufferers from the volcanic eruption in the islands of Martinique and St. Vincent. The amount of the fund is growing rapidly, but all that is contributed will find ready use. The amount received yesterday was $8,150, of which George Westinghouse, Jr., contributed $5,000. The total is now almost $28,000.

A Cheerful Spirit Pervades Presbyterians

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 15.

When the general assembly of the Presbyterian church met today in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, it presented an impressive as well as cheerful picture. The church is a handsome one, to begin with. When the moderator called the assembly to order every seat was occupied, and there was a fringe of standees around the gallery up-stairs. The body of the church is reserved for commissioners, and there are many ushers, each with a knot of blue ribbon in his buttonhole, to see that the commissioners or delegates to the assembly are properly seated and made comfortable generally. Looking over the gathering on the lower floor from the gallery, one could not but be struck with the number of white and bald heads that dotted the general prospect of masculine craniums, filling all the space from the back of the edifice to the platform. This platform is a handsomely designed piece of work, with its curiously carved reading desk beneath the organ and choir loft. Although many of the elders in assembly are such in more than one sense, it is noticeable that there is a spirit of almost boyish cheerfulness pervading the gathering, only tempered by the ever-present recollection that the assembly is meeting in a place of worship. One of the speakers referred to this fact this afternoon, but only casually, although it was understood that he meant it for a quiet hint that decorum should always be observed in a church whatever the occasion. The business of the day was the naming of candidates for moderator, and when a particularly telling point had been made by one of the speakers, proposing a name, there was no hesitation in applauding by hand-clapping and in the most vigorous fashion. At one time, when Dr. Van Dyke of Princeton was nominated, the cheering lasted for a minute or two, the scene being an extraordinarily striking one, and one which most likely was without precedent in this historic church. Take it all in all, the assembly has begun its 15 day's session with a heartiness and energy which promises well for an exciting session when the crucial question of creed revision is before the body with due formality.

Dr. Lindsay's Oratorical Throw.

Of all the speeches made for different candidates for the office of moderator in the general assembly today, by far the most dramatic, as well as the longest, was that by the Rev. Henry D. Lindsay, pastor of the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny. Mr. Lindsay was nominating Dr. Moffat, president of the Washington and Jefferson college, and he did not fail to place the merits of his candidate well before the assembly. Dr. Lindsay is a splendid speaker, as Alleghenians and Pittsburghers well know, and if a bit of forcible slang is permissible, "everlastingly threw" himself. His oratory was the most effective heard today, and whatever the commissioners may have thought about the eligibility of his candidate, all had to admit that they had never listened to a more eloquent address. Dr. Lindsay is intensely loyal to Western Pennsylvania, as well as to the presidency of Washington and Jefferson college, and he managed to offer a tribute, embracing the district in general and Dr. Moffat in particular, so magnificent peroration that brought forth prolonged cheering as he stepped down from the platform.

Not Perfect, But Good Enough.

One of the elders in the Presbyterian assembly this afternoon, whose duty it was to offer a nomination for moderator, began by saying that he had never heard of a perfect man except one, referring, of course, to the Nazarene. "But," he went on, "although I do not consider Dr. ——— a perfect man, I do think he would be a good moderator." The burst of laughter that followed this naive observation proved that his listeners appreciated the sly intimation that it does not take perfection for the position of moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

Duss Will Create a Sensation.

R. E. Johnston, one of the most astute managers of entertainments in this city, predicts a great triumph for John Duss and his band at the St. Nicholas music hall, where the Duss band is expected to hold forth all summer. Mr. Duss is so well known in Pittsburgh that a description of him here would be superfluous; but it may be said that when he walks along Broadway, he is striking enough for people to turn around to look after him, and to inquire of each other who he is. Mr. Johnston has engaged nearly 30 of the best musicians to be got here to reinforce the Economy players in the Duss organization. He said to me this afternoon that it would be a surprise for New Yorkers. "You see," he went on, "the other bandmasters that have played in this city are getting to be back numbers. I do not mean that their music is deteriorating; only that the public is tired of seeing the same leaders, year after year. Now, we come in with a new bandmaster, and a great one. He is full of magnetism, and, before and above all, is a thorough musician. I regard him as a musical wonder." The first concert in New York by the Duss band will take place in the Metropolitan opera house on Sunday week, May 25. The next evening the engagement in St. Nicholas hall will begin, continuing indefinitely. Among the side features of the Duss concerts will be several cologne fountains, where one can perfume his handkerchief at will, and the giving of a boutonniere to each feminine patron.

Not "Doose," But Plain "Duss."

There was a horrible suspicion that John Duss intended to change the pronunciation of his surname in New York as a tribute to metropolitan influences; but I learned today from his manager that it still will be sounded as if it were three-fourths of the word "Dust," just as it always has been in Pittsburgh. At the Metropolitan opera house the attaches prefer to pronounce it "Doose," but that will not be the St. Nicholas way, and Pittsburghers who drop in to hear the band when in New York will find their old friend still calling himself plain Duss, as of yore, without any "Doose" frills and scallops about it.

Popular Pastor Once An Alleghenian.

Among the distinguished ministers seen in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church today was the Rev. David Gregg, D. D., pastor of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian church in Brooklyn. Dr. Gregg was born in Stockton avenue, Allegheny, and lived in Allegheny for many years. He has held his present charge for a long time and is immensely popular. His church is one of the largest and most fashionable in Greater New York, and the attendance every Sunday is enormous. Dr. Gregg preaches usually, but he has an assistant to take some of his ministerial duties off his shoulders. It is understood that the pastor pays a large part of the salary of the assistant out of his own salary, which is a generous one. Dr. Gregg seemed to know nearly everyone in the assembly today, and of all the Pittsburghers present not many missed shaking hands with him.

A. D. Gerwig in the Metropolis.

A. D. Gerwig of the well-known Gerwig family of Allegheny and Pittsburgh was among the callers at The Gazette bureau today. He is living in New York, but always keeps a fond eye upon his native city, as do most other Pittsburghers in this great wilderness.

President Palma's Family.

T. Estrada Palma expects to have all his family about him when he takes the oath as president of the republic of Cuba. His son, Jose Estrada Palma, sailed from New York today for Havana on the steamer Esperanza.

Big Price for a Narrow Lot.

A record for values in the dry goods district was established today by the sale of the building at the southwest corner of Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue. This is the well-known drug store of William B. Riker Sons Company. That firm bought the plot and the five-story iron front building on it for $450,000. The size of the lot is 26.9x60 feet. It contains 1,605 square feet, which, at the above price, is $280 37 a square foot. The rest of the Sixth avenue block front is controlled by Ehrich Bros., who bought the Twenty-second street corner last year at $148 33 a square foot. Today's sale establishes a record which is only exceeded in this section of the city by the square foot price of $324 95, brought by the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth street last year.

The Brooks Case Reopened.

The Brooks murder or suicide is again in process of ventilation in the coroner's court. The testimony is not of a particularly edifying character, but it is worked over and over with much unction by the attorneys concerned. Now we shall have the sloppy sentimentality about the "Burns girl" in big doses again, while the question of who killed Walter Brooks seems to be as far from solution as ever.

Judgment Against Mansfield.

Judgment by default was entered against Richard Mansfield before Justice McCarthy in the city court today in a suit brought by Joseph F. Webber, a tailor. The amount of the judgment, including interest and costs, is $502. Three promissory notes executed by Mansfield in 1897, two for $140 and one for $100, in favor of the tailor, formed the basis of the suit. Mansfield did not make any defense to the suit.

Beef Boycott Leads to Rioting.

Excited over the high price of beef, and incensed against the powers that control the wholesale markets, the dark-eyed, pale-faced women of the Ghetto turned the precincts in charge of the police of the Madison and Eldridge street stations into scenes of fighting and riot early today. As a result it became necessary to call out the reserves of two precincts and about 60 women were arrested and fined from $3 to $10 each. For several days the East Side kosher butcher shops have sold no beef or mutton, the proprietors refusing to do business with the trust. Dwellers in the district have recognized the justice of the action of the butchers and have done their marketing in grocery stores and at fish stands; but yesterday the butchers held a meeting and decided that they could not fight the wholesale combination any longer, arguing that there was no use in their refusing to sell kosher meat, because other butchers would take all their trade. So they opened their shops and there was a good, old-fashioned ruction in consequence. The fines had a soothing effect, however, and the trouble was over very soon.

Old Favorite Again a Success.

"The Henrietta," with Robson and Crane in their original parts of Bertie the Lamb and Nicholas Van Alstyne, respectively, was done at the Knickerbocker this afternoon before an enormous audience. The old play was given with old-time snap, and it struck many present as better than several latter-day productions which have been regarded as successes. The proceeds of the entertainment today will go to the new Actors' Home on Staten Island, and it is said that the home is nearly $5,000 richer for the matinee.

Helen Gould's Gift to the Jackies.

Uncle Sam's jackies who are interested in the Y. M. C. A. got their new association building in Sands street, Brooklyn, today. It is for the especial benefit of men at the navy yard, and is the gift of the fair philanthropist whose name is blessed by so many persons, Miss Helen M. Gould. There was an elaborate program at the dedication ceremonies, and many fashionable people were there to see it carried out. President Roosevelt had been expected to come, but his duties prevented, and he sent a long and pleasant telegram of regret instead. The building is seven stories high and complete in all its equipment and furnishings. It cost Miss Gould $100,000. Besides the gymnasium and reading room there is a bowling alley, a ping-pong court, a huge plunge, with a complement of shower and needle baths, a restaurant, roof garden and dormitory to accommodate 250 persons.

Goint to Paris to Plunge.

Riley Grannan, the well-known bookmaker and plunger, was a passenger on the French liner La Lorraine when it left New York today for Havre. Grannan said he was going to France because the American jockeys are having everything their own way there. The entries for Morris Park and Sheepshead Bay tracks, Mr. Grannan said, are not good betting propositions, and he thinks he can do better in France.

In frame of ivy set,
A ring cottage casement clasped
With fragrant amulets;
And looking through this window
You see a garden old—
Petunia, dahlia, mullein, pink,
And rose and marigold.

But oh, this little window
With ivy curtains hung,
I would my sweetest singing might
In praise of it be sung!
For, looking through this window,
A world of joy is mine—
Dreams, visions, hopes and fantasies,
All golden, all divine!

TROUBLE IN CHESTER.

Delegates Under Elkin Instructions Which Misrepresent Public Sentiment.

From the West Chester Local News.

Once upon a time more than a hundred years ago Chester county furnished this commonwealth with a governor, a very able man, a native of Londonderry township, Thomas McKean by name. It now looks as if Chester county was about to furnish this commonwealth with another governor, a very able man, Samuel W. Pennypacker, of Schuylkill township.

Judge McKean was of Scotch-Irish parentage, Judge Pennypacker is of Pennsylvania German ancestry. To each of these two stocks of people Pennsylvania probably owes half of her population.

Judge Pennypacker is a son of Dr. Isaac A. Pennypacker and was born in the borough of Phoenixville.

After attaining manhood he studied law and commenced its practice at Philadelphia, where he has continued to reside except in the summer season.

He owns the old Moore Hall farm and its historic mansion in Schuylkill township, about two miles south of Phoenixville, where he repairs each summer and there remains until the frosts of winter urge him to go to Philadelphia.

Like the members of his family, he has always been interested in historic and scientific investigations and is recognized as one of the strong men of the Pennsylvania Historical society.

Like his family he has always taken an interest in political affairs, always holding to that independence of thought our present political conditions so often require but do not always find.

About 12 years ago he was appointed one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia.

This appointment was of such a satisfactory character that the Democrats accorded him the election without putting up a candidate against him.

At the end of his term he was re-elected without opposition. He is the kind of man the Republicans of Chester county would naturally support, even if he had not been a native of the county, if they had an opportunity to do so. He is the very man they would now support and help nominate if they had the opportunity, but unfortunately the ground has been pre-empted without having their consent even asked of them.

The rules of the Republican party of this county provide that any man who desires to have the people pass upon his candidacy and instruct for him, must have his name registered with the chairman 20 days before the time of holding the delegate elections and the chairman must send out placards having on them the names of candidates who have registered.

At the last election of delegates to elect our seven delegates to the state convention, no candidates for any state office registered. There were, consequently, no placards sent out, no places provided on the tickets for the people to instruct for governor, and no such instructions voted.

The delegates came to West Chester without any instructions whatever or any authority to instruct others.

As the power to give instructions was not given by the people of the townships and boroughs our delegates to the state convention could not be instructed and any attempt at instructions would be a usurpation and not binding.

Nevertheless, it is said our convention, upon the motion of one which was seconded by another, went through the form of instructing for one John P. Elkin for governor who does not appear to have one supporter in the county outside of those seven delegates, three of whom, it is said, favor Pennypacker.

In the law these instructions are not binding and our delegates are free to vote for Judge Pennypacker or any other candidate.

Would a mass meeting do any good? Could these delegates be reached by petition? Is there anything the Republicans of this county can do which will induce them or some of them to vote for Judge Pennypacker?

How mortifying it would be if when the state convention is over and Pennypacker nominated, it should be found he did not receive the vote of one man from this, his native county, although the Republican party of the county, independents and regulars, are practically unanimous for him.

There is, however, one remedy: If these delegates feel themselves to be bound to Elkin, let those who are not for Pennypacker resign their places to others who will represent the wishes of the county and do it at once, and they will confer a favor upon more pleasure in the county than anything else they can do at this time. Gentlemen, resign at once.

BEAVER PRIMARIES HELD

Republican State Delegates Elected Without Opposition—Returns Incomplete on County Offices.

BEAVER, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—The most hotly contested factional fight ever waged in the Republican party in Beaver county took place today. Senator Quay, J. M. May and Thomas F. Jobe had no opposition as delegates to the state convention.

Not more than one-third of the precincts had been heard from up to midnight. In the districts heard from the vote was large. Owing to the incompleteness of the returns the result cannot be stated. The principal interest centers in the efforts of the friends of J. H. Cunningham, candidate for congress, to control the county committee.

Oil refineries and other southern manufacturers are beginning to build small tanks of about 5,000 barrels, where they keep Beaumont oil for use as fuel, instead of coal. We are building some large tanks in the oil district, with a capacity as high as 55,000 barrels."

SOCIETY

ONE of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings the joint committee of Women's Clubs has held this season was that of yesterday in the assembly room of the Twentieth Century club. Interesting reports followed one another throughout the meeting. Members of women's clubs throughout the city have signified their intention of engaging heartily in the work of the playgrounds during the weeks of their continuance. The Sorosis club will take entire charge of one school ground and the New Era club has arranged to do likewise.

The Wimodausis club, one of the latest to enter the joint committee, will assist Mrs. Samuel Miller at the Birmingham school playground. The Twentieth Century club will take entire charge of the children at the Ralston school grounds. The Epoch club has arranged to provide equipment for the Soho school playground and the Lawrenceville New Century club has appropriated $100 to the work of the joint committee. This club has centered its work in other years in the playground opened on the grounds of the Young Men's Civic club, Lawrenceville, in Penn avenue, near Twenty-eighth street. Donations have been received from the Woman's Suffrage club of Wilkinsburg.

The Columbian Council of Jewish Women, which heretofore has conducted a summer playground at the Columbian school in Center avenue, this year has turned over its playground to the joint committee and the money provided by the Columbian council for the work will pass through the treasury of the joint committee. Mrs. Otto Wuth announced yesterday that the Central Young Women's Christian association will provide the cooking plant to be used in Washington school No. 1 during the summer weeks.

Preliminary to the opening of the summer playgrounds a series of lectures, informal talks and classes will be held for the members of the joint committee and the teachers in the playgrounds and in the industrial work. Miss Louise Taylor, under whose direction much of the work for the older children in the playgrounds will be conducted, announces a lecture in the lecture hall of the Carnegie institute on Saturday morning, May 24, at 10 o'clock. Miss Taylor will talk on "Stories in the Playground." Preceding Miss Taylor's lecture a series of three informal talks will be given next week at the Kindergarten college by Miss Beulah Kennard, chairman of the joint committee.

The following week, on May 28, 29 and 30, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoons, Miss Baldt, director of sewing at the Central Young Women's Christian association, will give a series of three informal demonstrations and lessons in sewing at the Central Young Women's Christian association.

Flower days will be observed weekly at the playgrounds this summer. Flower day at the summer playgrounds means the giving of a flower to each child, while exercises, songs and drills will be a feature of the ceremony. A committee consisting of Mrs. John Colebery, Mrs. James Adair, Mrs. J. J. Masthof, Mrs. E. L. Mattern and Mrs. James J. Grier will have charge of the work. In some playgrounds it is hoped that flower gardens can be taken care of by the children. Kingsley House will have such a flower garden, which will open on May 24.

Mrs. Samuel Miller yesterday reported for the South Side recreation park, which is open and is the meeting place for all the boys of the neighborhood. The South Side recreation park committee includes Mrs. Samuel Miller, Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, Mrs. John Coveney, Mrs. Rufus Martin and Miss Annie Weltzel. The other recreation park secured to the children and older people of the neighborhood through the efforts of the joint committee is the Bedford Basin park. The committee of women having charge of this recreation ground consists of Mrs. Mattie Patterson, Mrs. Barker and Miss Frances Bray.

The committee on appropriations reported that no appropriation has yet been received from the city of Allegheny. An ordinance providing for an appropriation was passed and received the approval of the recorder, but it is still in the hands of the controller. The next meeting of the joint committee will be held June 5 at the Twentieth Century club house.

Raising a Building Fund.

The board of managers of the Protestant Home for Incurables has pledges and contributions for $28,000 toward the building fund for its new home for men. Plans for the building are still embryonic, nothing having been determined beyond the purpose to erect the building on the site of the present house, which shelters the men of the institution. The new building will be of brick and connected by a covered way with the main building, the home for women. Acting on the suggestion of the advisory board, the managers will take no further steps until they have secured pledges amounting to $50,000. The new building will not cost $50,000, but with larger accommodations for the men and more extensive equipment, it will be advisable to increase the endowment fund, and for this reason $50,000 is deemed necessary.

The committee appointed to take charge of the building fund is composed of Mrs. Pascha L. Cluley, chairman, Mrs. Mary Aiken, Mrs. H. D. W. English, Miss Eleanor J. Stevenson, Miss Annie Tindle and Mrs. Maria Book. The advisory board includes John Porterfield, George K. Stevenson, Reuben Miller, Wilson Miller, J. J. Donnell and Andrew Long. John J. Slack is their attorney.

There was a large gathering at the donation day reception, yesterday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 6, at the home in Lawrenceville. The managers received their guests. The whole house, together with the home for the men, was thrown open for inspection and the guests were served with refreshments. The absence of the president, Miss Malinda Pressly, who has been prominent in all the interests of the Home for Incurables for many years, was noticeable. Miss Pressly met with a serious accident in the autumn, falling and injuring her hip. The donations received yesterday consisted largely of money for the proposed new building. Generous stores of groceries and household goods were also received.

Social Happenings in Sewickley.

The first of a series of three subscription dances was held at the Edgeworth club, Sewickley, last evening. About 100 couples were present. The ballroom was tastefully decorated with spring blossoms. The second dance will be given on the evening of May 29. Among the patronesses last evening were Mrs. L. Halsey Williams, Mrs. William N. Kerr, Mrs. George H. Clapp, Mrs. James C. Chaplin, Mrs. Frank E. Rutan, Mrs. Edward D. Gilmore, Mrs. Frederick Hawxhurst, Mrs. Darwin S. Wolcott, Mrs. James N. Titchie, Mrs. Christian I. Shannon, Mrs. John M. Tate, Jr., Mrs. Marshall A. Christy, Mrs. Charles B. McVay, Jr., and Mrs. Robert P. Nevin. Delightful refreshments were served.

Mrs. William N. Kerr will give a tea this afternoon at her home in Broad street in honor of her mother, Mrs. Catherine R. Warden of Sewickley, who has been spending the winter in New York and is now visiting her daughter.

Mrs. Robert Clark of Beaver street will entertain with a luncheon at her home this afternoon.

Mrs. Alfred B. Harlow will be hostess at a luncheon at her home in Beaver street this afternoon.

The first of the entertainments preliminary to the Laughlin-Robinson wedding to occur at Franklin farm, Sewickley heights, on Wednesday of next week, will take place tomorrow at the Hon. B. F. Jones' summer home, Sewickley. Mrs. Alexander Laughlin will give a luncheon to the bridal party, after which there will be a wedding rehearsal. The bridal party is composed of Miss Madelaine Laughlin, maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Mrs. John R. Ricketson, Jr., Miss Marguerite Singer, Miss Rebecca Darlington, Miss Elizabeth Chambers and Miss Louise Wood. The best man will be Henry H. Robinson and the ushers Mr. Stuart H. Robinson, Mr. William B. Scaife, Mr. Thomas O'Connor Jones, Mr. Alan D. Wood, Mr. Joshua Walter Rhodes and Mr. Frank Ward Severance.

Mrs. J. A. Hardy's Entertainments.

The entertainments Mrs. J. Alexander Hardy gave yesterday were charming in their informality and beauty of appointments. She entertained in the afternoon at her home in Amber street, her guests numbering nearly 75 ladies. A similar number of guests were again entertained in the evening. A "salmagundi" party was given both afternoon and evening, the novelty being enhanced at the earlier entertainment by a musical romance, a dainty and unique story told in music, the music being provided by Miss Lovelace. At both entertainments handsome prizes were distributed by the hostess as rewards for skill.

Assisting Mrs. Hardy were Mrs. Harry B. Hays, Mrs. T. K. Ray and Mrs. William Fuller. The house was decorated with exquisite taste. Throughout the lower rooms the flowers were yellow tulips and daffodils, mingled with small tropical plants and smilax.

CANONSBURG, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—One of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed in Canonsburg occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cockins tonight, when their only daughter, Miss Alice May, became the wife of Dr. William D. Inglis of Columbus, O. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newark, N. J., a brother of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. B. Smiley of Canonsburg.

The ceremony was witnessed by about 75 invited guests, many of whom were from Pittsburgh. The bride was dressed in a superb creation of white mousseline and white silk, and carried a large shower bouquet of white bridal roses. They will see the coronation of King Edward VII. in London next month and will then go to Leipsic, Germany, where Dr. Inglis will take a special course in medicine.

STRIKE SETTLED

The builders' strike is about settled. In fact it is settled so far as the Pickering furniture building is concerned. Mr. Pickering met the different organizations in council and agreed with them that he (Pickering) would pay the price they asked out of his own pocket. After a short confab it was decided to accept the Pickering proposition and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Pickering for being the first to come to the front and help the workingmen. Now that part of the men have got their wages increased no doubt the other contractors will do the same, thus ending what looked to be a big strike. The credit for this settlement belongs to the progressive house of Pickerings.

SELF-ADMINISTERED POISON.

Hundreds of people deliberately poison their systems eating. Scientists have proven that uric acid is derived mainly from beefsteak, which people eat from habit. This acid is not found in vegetable foods. Uric acid is best known as the cause of rheumatism, but to its effects apoplexy, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries, which causes premature age, are traced. The prevention of uric acid may be found in a diet of Toasted Wheat Flakes, which are sweetened with Malt Honey. This is a dextrinized (browned) food, which makes strong muscles and an alert mind. These flakes are deliciously satisfying and strengthening. Toasted Wheat Flakes are sold by grocers in packages bearing a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

ROADS GET INTO COURT ON RIGHTS OF WAY

STOP WORK BY AGREEMENT

Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Co. Wants an Injunction Against the West Side Belt Railroad.

The Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company and the West Side Belt Railroad Company yesterday got into litigation over rights of way. A bill was filed by Attorney A. M. Neeper for the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon company against the West Side Belt company to restrain it from interfering with the right of way held by the plaintiff, or from constructing any crossing over the plaintiff's railroad, and that the defendant be required to remove any structure now upon the property of the plaintiff. By agreement of counsel, before Judge Brown, it was decided to stop work at the points set forth in the bill for the present.

The plaintiff declares it is the owner of property in Baldwin township, acquired from Jesse McCullough; that it is entitled to hold a right of way 60 feet wide and the ground for necessary slopes, etc., of which right it has had possession for about 30 years.

It is charged that the West Side Belt Company has illegally entered upon the land and has staked out the location of a pier upon which it is proposed to erect a trestle. It is charged that the defendant has, near Oak station, entered upon the plaintiff's right of way and is attempting to erect a trestle. It is alleged these crossings will afford insufficient head room for the proper operation of the plaintiff's railway and that it will offer a permanent and dangerous obstruction.

The plaintiff declares it has opened negotiations with the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company to make connections with it, and to this end it will be necessary for the plaintiff company to change its railroad from a narrow gauge to a standard gauge and to readjust the grades to permit the operation of standard coal cars, and by reason of the projected crossings of the defendant company this cannot be done.

It is further stated that the agreement of merger between the Little Sawmill Run Railroad Company and the West Side Belt Railroad Company, from which the West Side Belt Line Railroad Company was organized, bears date of June 28, 1897, and avers that the West Side Belt Railroad Company and its predecessor organized July 25, 1895, has not and did not, within the time required by its charter, make a legal and valid location, nor did it commence the construction of the railroad within the time required by law.

MINERS ARE ENJOINED.

Preliminary Injunction Restraining Strikers From Interfering With Cornell Coal Co.'s Employes.

A bill in equity was filed by the Cornell Coal Company of Hites station against John Houk and other striking miners, restraining them from interfering with the men now at work at the mines. According to the bill the case is really directed against the United Mine Workers. A preliminary injunction was granted.

The company says 125 men went on a strike on April 15 last. Eight returned and two additional men were given employment. The company alleges it is willing to pay the wages asked, but not willing to sign the scale. It is charged that all of the defendants have gathered about the mines and company's offices and by their actions have been a source of discomfort to the company.

It is claimed that when the men now employed are on their way to and from work the strikers call them "scabs" and "black sheep," while some of the defendants follow the men to their homes using ugly names. It is charged some of the strikers assault the men now at work and prevent the company from getting others to work.

It is also set forth that a kitchen at the dwelling of one of the workmen was set on fire, it is thought, by one of the strikers, in order to intimidate men from working for the plaintiffs.

Want Good Water Supply.

Joseph B. Carothers, and others, of Wilmerding, have filed a bill in equity against the Pennsylvania Water Company to compel the defendant to give them an adequate supply of pure water and to restrain it from collecting water rents until this is done. It is claimed there has not been an adequate supply for a year, that many of the plaintiffs have seldom had water oftener than once a week, and sometimes none for two or three weeks. It is said the situation is due entirely to the indifference of the company.

Commissioners Award Contracts.

Controller Thompson and the county commissioners yesterday awarded contracts. William Barclay gets the contract for painting 24 bridges, for $1,590. Masonry contracts for five bridges go to Charles M. Driver at prices from $8.75 to $24 per cubic yard; to Perry Poli for two bridges at $11.25 and $12.75 per cubic yard, and to James Kinlin, for two bridges at $14.01 and $16.08 per cubic yard. For building superstructures Nelson & Buchanan were awarded four contracts for sums ranging from $2,165 to $4,125.

Refused to Cancel a Contract.

An opinion was handed down by Judge McClung in the case of the Youghiogheny Bridge Company against the Pittsburgh Bridge Company and others, to have a contract for the construction of a bridge at Connellsville declared invalid; also for the cancellation of certain notes. The court says the contract is not for a grossly excessive price and that no fraud was shown. The bill was dismissed. Attorneys J. P. Hunter and George O. Riddle represented the defendants.

TURNER NOT GUILTY.

Colored Man Who Killed Frederick Jones Acquitted of Murder.

After being out four hours the jury in the case of Thomas Turner, charged with the murder of Frederick Jones, returned a verdict of not guilty.

George Collins, George Daley and Daniel Hughes, boys, pleaded guilty to the larceny of scrap brass from the Ft. Wayne railroad yards. On account of their age the court gave them a severe lecture and suspended sentence.

William Davis was found guilty of cutting Richard Schooler in a pool room on Tunnel street. Schooler testified that Davis cut him without provocation after they had been separated from fighting. Davis said that Schooler attempted to draw a revolver and that he cut him in self-defense. Sentence was not imposed.

The jury in the case of Thomas Dickerson, charged with felonious assault and battery by Robert Craig, Jr., of Emblem station, was out when court adjourned. On the evening of October 5 Craig was shot in the back while investigating a mysterious noise in the rear of his residence. The case was tried once before and a new trial granted.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

An order was made restraining Frederick King and B. M. Quinn from selling the property of Ida Litchfield, bankrupt.

In the United States circuit court the case of the Commonwealth Iron Company against the Salem Iron Company was concluded. By consent of counsel the jury was allowed to go home and is to report this morning. It is an action to recover damages on a breach of contract.

In the United States district court petitions in bankruptcy were filed as follows: John H. Schmidt of Homestead, liabilities of $7,357 and assets of $4,465; Harry F. Cunliff, a saloonman, of Pittsburgh, liabilities $841, and assets $170; Jacob J. Winkenbach, a former saloonkeeper of Braddock, liabilities $3,301 and assets $616.

The schedule of liabilities and assets of W. P. Wampler of McKeesport was filed. His liabilities are $94,264, of which $66,441 is secured, $18,263 unsecured and $8,753 accommodation paper, and his assets amount to $28,615, of which $15,647 is due on open accounts, $4,085 stock in trade, $2,270 due on notes, and $2,085 unliquidated.

A foreign attachment was issued against Robert M. Porter by Thomas Harper, summoning the Safe Deposit & Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Elizabeth Porter, to recover $500. Harper was the defendant's bondsman and alleges that the money was spent for counsel fees and expenses in defending a case in the orphans' court.

A bill in equity was filed in the United States circuit court by the Mississippi Wire Glass Company against James A. Sweeney and Charles L. Traube. The plaintiffs state that they are informed that the defendants are about to use a process for making wire glass which is infringing on an expert patent which is owned by the plaintiffs. They ask for a restraining order.

Executions were issued as follows: Margaret C. Hamilton vs. Frank H. Watson et al, $1,650; Frank C. Rogers, use, vs. William R. Laxton et al, $3,437; Prentiss Tool & Supply Company vs. Hope Manufacturing Company, $1,180; Power Publishing Company vs. Williams Storage Company, $446 50; Elizabeth W. Kerr vs. Fred G. Jones et al, $455 27; William Manet vs. Charles Hildebrand, $5,872 32; Fidelity Title & Trust Company vs. Sarah E. Perry, $921 21, same vs. G. F. Price, $5,489 73.

STRIKE IS PROBABLE.

Electrical Bulb-Makers Will Vote on Matter Soon.

The electrical bulb glassworkers will probably strike. Voting blanks were mailed yesterday. The bulbworkers are members of the American Flint Glassworkers' union.

The blowers demand an advance from $4 20 to $4 50 and the gatherers ask for $2 80 instead of $2 60. It is the same advance asked at the Cleveland convention last year and refused by the manufacturers.

The manufacturers asserted that the importation of foreign bulbs made it impossible to grant the advance, but they agreed to pay it if Thomas Rowe, the vice president of the American Flint Glassworkers' union, after investigating the conditions in Europe, said that the workers ought to have the advance. Mr. Rowe favored the advance. The manufacturers, however, declined to grant it and a strike is probable.

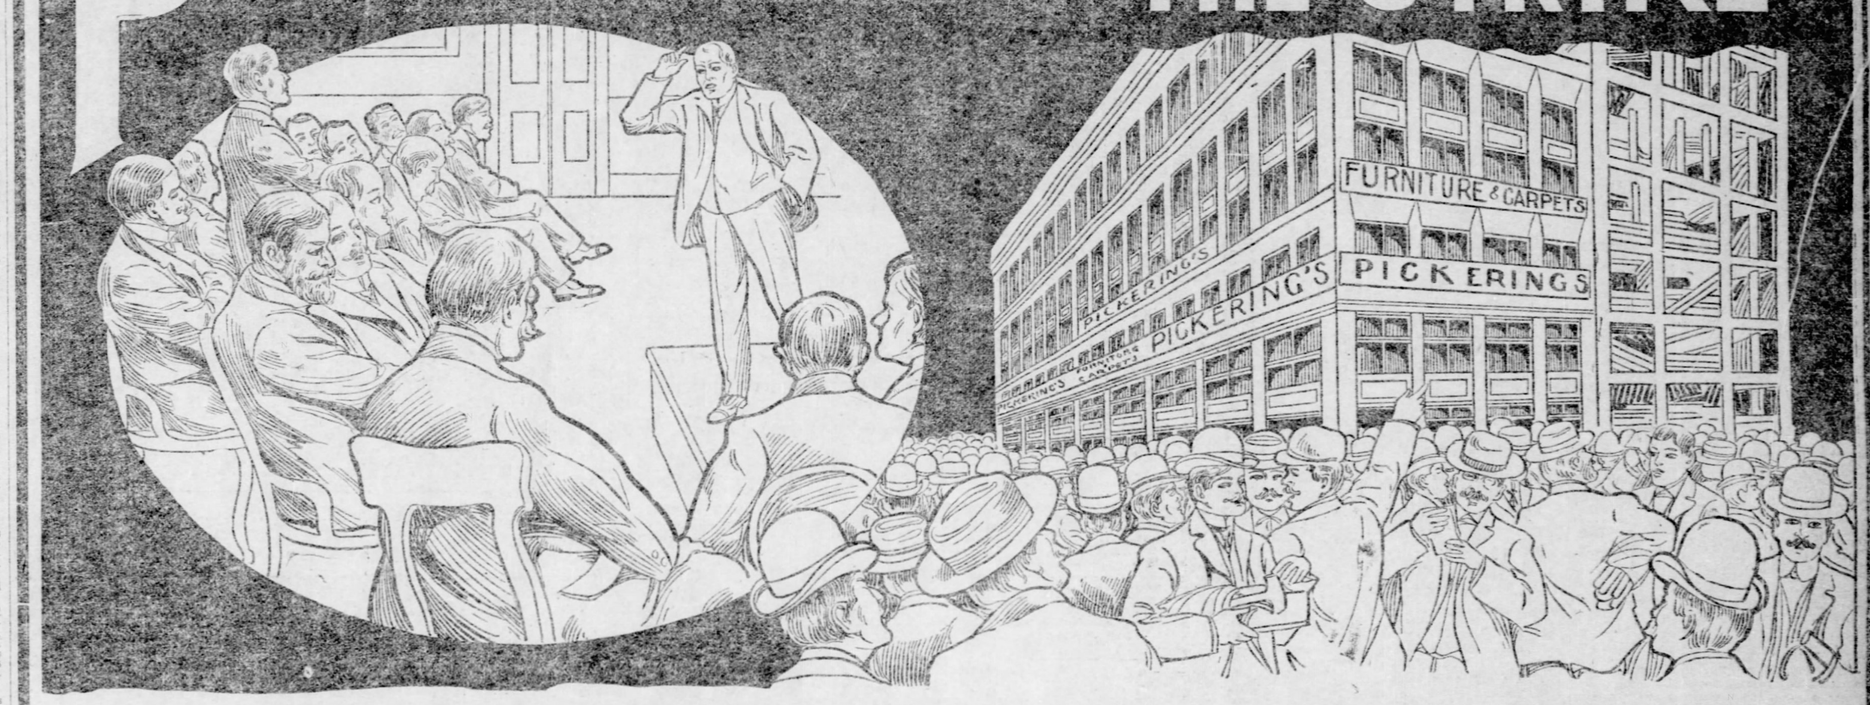
PICKERING'S BREAKS THE STRIKE



MR. PICKERING'S APPEAL TO THE CONTRACTORS THAT ARE ERECTING HIS NEW BUILDING:

Gentlemen--- I ask you in the name of organized labor to allow me out of my own pocket to pay the difference that the workingman asks. I feel that the workingman of this community has done much to place our house where it is to-day, the leader in the House-Furnishing line. I have always dealt fair with the working class. In time of sickness or distress I have always been lenient with them in asking them to make their payments. I have helped tide over the adversity of my fellow men. None has ever come to me and asked credit that I have refused.

The confidence they place in our house has been lasting; the seed we have sown has borne fruit, and to-day we stand the largest FURNITURE HOUSE in the State. I don't forget that some of the credit is due to the workingman, and now when it comes my turn to show my hand, I say to you gentlemen contractors that are erecting our new 9-story annex, allow me to pay the difference.

LET THE MEN GO TO WORK. I'LL STAND THE LOSS.

I'll pay the advance. Say yes. And a thousand waiting ears, both mechanics, their wives and children, will rise up and applaud you.

YOU KNOW the trust has raised the price of the necessities of life; you know it takes two dollars to buy what one would do a year ago. Then why should you grind the poor man down? Let him live, let his little family have some of the luxuries of life, and thousands of lips will praise you.*

Say the word, gentlemen, call the strike off. I'll pay the bills.

"NUF-CED."

P. S.—The above little speech had its effects. The contractors on Pickering's new building saw that they would not be the loser, that Pickering's was magnanimous. They will accept his proposition. Now others follow—everybody will have good wages, "Nuf-Ced."

MANAGER CLARKE AND FRED TENNEY HAD A FIST FIGHT ON PLAYING FIELD

FIGHT ON FIELD MADE BALL GAME A LIVELY AFFAIR

Manager Clarke and First Baseman Tenny Went at Each Other.

BOSTON MAN AGGRESSOR

Blamed Pirate Leader for Spiking Him, and There Was an Exchange of Blows--Both Put Out of the Game--Demont's Ugly Accident.

A fist fight on the field between Manager Clarke of the Pirates and First Baseman Tenney of the Boston team made the closing game between the champions and Beaneaters something of a lively affair, and added spice to an already warm contest. The game, by the way, was won by the champions by a score of 5 to 1.

The fight between Clarke and Tenney happened just after the Boston team had closed its half of the eighth inning, while the Pirates were on the way to their bench for their turn at bat. This row was precipitated by an incident in the Pirates' half of the seventh inning. Doheny was on first base by reason of a hit, and after Davis had been put out Clarke drove the ball down at Herman Long, who attempted a double play, but did not quite succeed, as his throw was a little wide. Clarke went into first with all speed on. It seems that in touching the bag he stamped on Tenney's foot. The Boston player wanted Clarke called out, but the umpire refused to do so, as he was clearly safe. Tenney then called attention to his foot, but nothing was done about it, nor was anything further said at the time.

Tenney Was the Aggressor.

Tenney nursed his wrath until the Pirates were coming in off the field. He then attacked Clarke verbally and said a few things which are not to be found in Sunday school books, but not loud enough for the spectators to hear. Clarke, so he admits himself, told the Boston first baseman that he had stamped on his foot purposely, his object being to make him drop the ball. This seems to have fired Tenney up to the fighting point and he at once let go his left for Clarke's jaw. The Pirates' leader parried the blow, and adopting the French style of fighting, made a pass at Tenney with his foot, but missed the mark. The pair then got into close quarters and there was a hot exchange of blows, with honors about even.

Catcher O'Connor and Umpire O'Day took a hand. O'Connor rushed between the belligerents and pushed Tenney back, while O'Day grabbed Clarke and hustled him to one side. Meanwhile the players on both sides surrounded the pair, both of whom showed a disposition to renew the battle, but were kept from it. The umpire ended the row by ordering both men to the bench and put them out of the game.

Thought It Was a Joke.

The 2,000 spectators were at first inclined to treat the affair as a joke, but on realizing it was a serious matter expressed their feelings by hissing and yelling at the Boston first baseman, who was clearly the instigator of the disorderly scene. After the game the bleacher crowd paid its respects to Tenney in choice language, but there was no attempt at violence. Manager Clarke said he had no idea Tenney was going to assault him and he simply protected himself.

There was still another incident in the game that created some excitement. It happened in the Pirates' half of the eighth inning, when the bases were filled with runners. Doheny, who was at bat, sent a fly out to Carney in right field, and in making the throw for the plate his aim was bad and the ball caught Second Baseman Demont in the small of the back. Demont picked the ball up and threw it to Long, then he swooned and dropped like a stone to the grass. Carney's throw was a terrific one and the blow received by Demont was a hard one. He revived in a minute or two and played the game out, but it was noticed that his back gave him great pain.

Champions Back From Dope Land.

The champions got back yesterday from their trip into dopeland and demonstrated to the spectators what they can do in the ball playing line when they pay strict attention to their business. They went at Buckenberger's Boston team with the energy of a lot of Irishmen out to tear down a British flag, and they walked off with the game without the least trouble; in fact, they played rings around the visitors. Doheny, who was on the rubber for the home team, showed excellent form and held the visitors down to four hits. He was given splendid support by Harry Smith back of the bat, whose clever catching was one of the features of the game.

Malarkey also pitched clever ball for Boston, but was unfortunate in having three of his bases on balls turned into runs. The Boston pitcher was given fine support in a fielding way, but his companions were weak at bat owing to Doheny's clever work. The game was a nice one for the spectators, as there were many pretty plays on both sides. The visitors' star work was done by Capt. Long, who contributed a fast and pretty double play, and the clever work of Tenney at first base. The champions' star work was shown by Wagner when he went from first to third base in the second inning on an infield out. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

For a collegian Fred Tenney is about the sloppiest looking ball player in the National league. He is not only of rough appearance, but he talks and walks like a typical son of the Bowery. "Dat's it," and "Dat's de way," are his favorite coaching expressions.

Harry Smith called for applause by his foul fly catch off Demont's bat in the second inning. Harry went almost down to first base to get the ball, but got it all right.

Beaumont's three-bagger in the sixth inning was a bad case of misjudgment on the part of Middle Fielder Lush. The ball rolled clear to the pennant pole in deep middle field.

Wagner's base running in the second inning was a treat for the spectators, and Honus was wildly cheered when he went from first to third on Bransfield's out from Long to Tenney.

When Clarke and Tenney were ejected from the game for their pugnacious mix-up Wild Conroy was sent out to left for the Pirates and Pat Moran took Tenney's place at first. Neither player had anything to do.

Smith's steal of second in the third inning was both pretty and clean-cut. He was off with Malarkey's first pitching move and reached the bag by a pretty six-foot slide. "Good boy," yelled his fellow Pirates from the bench.

The Boston outfielders thought they had Smith sized up right when he came to bat in the third inning, and they moved around towards right field. Harry fooled them nicely, as he drove a hot single to left into left field.

For a wonder the players were content to let the umpire alone yesterday and failed to take any notice of his bad ruling in the eighth inning when he called Tommy Leach out at second on Lush's hit to left foot one while the bag before Long touched him with the ball.

Lush's reputation as a hard, accurate throwing outfielder was made good in the fifth inning when, after gathering in Davis' fly in middle field he sent the ball square into Kittridge's hands and caught Harry Smith at the plate. It was a play the spectators applauded.

Among the spectators was a party of Weber and Fields people, which included Lillian Russell, and which was headed by Law Fields. Secretary Pulliam unthinkingly assigned the party to box 13, but on reaching there the entire party sidestepped the box and would not enter it for love or money. The secretary saw his mistake and changed the location, much to the delight of all hands.

In the seventh inning, after Doheny had passed Kittridge on four straight balls, the Boston players thought they saw a sign of a balloon ascension and Pittinger, who was on the coaching lines, started to bellow like a bull. Chief Zimmer raised a laugh by chasing out with a glass of water, which he handed to Pittinger with the request that he clear his throat so the spectators could understand what he was yelling. Doheny settled the trouble by striking the next man out.

That fist fight between Tenney and Clarke yesterday was not unlooked for by the players, as there is a long-standing ill-feeling between the men. It will be recalled that last year Tenney soaked Clarke on the back of the head for colliding with him at first base. It is said that Tenney, who is of a fiery temper, always gets angry at any player who gets the best of a close play at the first corner. Tenney was clearly the aggressor yesterday and deserved a fine as well as ejectment from the game.

That was an awful soak on the back Carney accidentally inflicted on Demont in the eighth inning. The Boston right fielder put all his speed to send the ball in and Demont was watching for a play at the plate when the ball struck him. The second-baseman, with the natural instinct of a player, grabbed up the ball and fielded it to the proper place, then dropped over on the ground, and the expressions on his face showed he was suffering great pain. He pluckily finished the game, but it was apparent that it was a great strain on him to do so.

The Pittsburgh club yesterday made its first move toward complying with the 16-player rule when Pitcher George Merritt was granted his unconditional release. Merritt was secured last fall from the Iowa club of the New York State league, and pitched two winning games for the Pirates. He is a very promising pitcher, having speed, control and curves, and his practice work at Hot Springs was all that could be desired. However, Manager Clarke has so many good twirlers that there was no room for Merritt. His services are in great demand by other league clubs, and he will probably sign with the Worcester, Mass., club of the Eastern league.

W. U. P. FIELD MEET.

Inter-Class Athletes Will Test Their Skill on College Grounds Today.

The annual inter-class field and track meet of the Western University will be held this afternoon on the college field on Observatory hill, Allegheny. The meet was won last year by the sophomore class, which, as juniors now, will strive hard to retain the honor. Capt. W. S. Worcester of the W. U. P. track team is a member of the junior class, but the freshman class is thought to have the best chances.

The freshmen have among their number the best all-round athlete in college in McCogney, who was with Westminster last season. McCogney is good in sprints, weights, runs, hurdles, pole vault and broad jump. Outside of the decision of the class honors the events will be watched with interest, in view of the interdepartment meet at Schenley on next Friday and the inter-collegiate meet on Decoration day. It will be the first real test of the candidates upon which W. U. P. will have to rely in the competition for the Western Pennsylvania championship.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET.

Preparations Being Made for Many Athletes.

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 15.—(Special.)—Manager Ewing of the Washington and Jefferson field and track team is making active preparations for the interscholastic meet, which will be held here a week from Saturday. The entries will close next Tuesday and a large number has been received. Manager Ewing stated today that the following schools would be represented: Pittsburgh high school, Shadyside Academy, Pittsburgh, Mercersburg Academy, Allegheny Preparatory school, Indiana Normal, Trinity Hall school of Washington, Linsly Institute of Wheeling and Kishiminetas school of Saltsburg. Washington and Jefferson academy will have a large team entered, but the indications are that they will not make a strong showing, as the records made in the inter-class meet last Saturday were not exceptionally good.

THE STATE SHOOT.

Clay Birds Through With—Live Ones Today.

OIL CITY, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—A high wind from the north was the only disagreeable feature of the third day's shoot of the Pennsylvania Sportsmen's association tournament. There were two state events and one open handicap on the program. Today closes the shooting at inanimate targets with Crossby leading for the three days and Kirkower, second. Interest centers in the live bird shoot which opens at 9:30 tomorrow morning. In the open event Crossby kept up his fine shooting by again capturing the first average with 95 per cent. Atkinson, shooting from the 18-yard mark, averaged 93 out of a possible 100, and took first place in the target handicap. Fleming took second with 18 from the 18-yard mark, 20 with 85 from the 19-yard mark.

BILLIARD TOURNEY ENDS.

Beymer Won From Roberts, Causing the Latter to Lose Second Place.

Beymer, by defeating Roberts in the game in the billiard tourney yesterday afternoon, assured second money to Marshall. The game was a very slow one, and was rather tiresome to look at, as both players appeared to be unstrung and uncertain of how to go after their shots. In the evening Powers (180) experienced very little difficulty in disposing of Jack, a scratch man, by a score of 180 to 161.

Allegheny college was easy for the H. L. A. C. yesterday, in fact the collegians put up a decidedly inferior game of ball and were weak at the bat, getting six hits off the delivery of Alexander Jones, and these were mostly badly placed. The score:

THE FOURTH SPORTS AT SCHENLEY PARK

DIRECTOR M'CANDLESS MAPS OUT QUITE A PROGRAM.

Will Include a Pony Race for Boys, Automobile Races and Perhaps a Motor Machine Race—Handsome Prizes Will Be Given for Each Event.

Director McCandless is authority for the statement that the sporting celebration at Schenley park on the Fourth will be the greatest of the many big demonstrations held in honor of Independence day. Director McCandless said that while the plans in detail had not been formulated yet a great deal of thought had been given to this feature of the mammoth celebration, and that far more money than ever before would be spent in making the sporting events at the oval worthy of the great crowd and its lasting remembrance.

As has already been announced $10,000, a larger sum than ever before aimed at, will be spent on the whole demonstration, but the director says the increase in the expenditure on sports will be far out of proportion to the advance in the general fund.

It will be the special aim to introduce new features, and one departure will be in the nature of pony races, for which valuable trophies will be hung up. The director says there are some very fine ponies owned in the East End, and an opportunity will be given the boys to contribute a leading feature to the day's program. Fast automobile races are expected to give the people an opportunity of witnessing an exciting display of speed such as often read of these days in the accounts of great automobile contests, but never attempted in Pittsburgh.

As there will be some very fast motor bicycle pacing machines in the city in connection with the new Coliseum track track over in Allegheny, some kind of a race between these flyers is viewed with favor, while it is recognized by all that a great bike race paced with Lester Wilson as one of the contestants would probably be the strongest drawing card possible at the park.

In conclusion Director McCandless said that the program in detail would not be mapped out until later and until reports are received from the committees now at work, but that the fullest attention would be given to sports, and that it would not be the city's fault if local lovers of these features do not get filled to the brim with satisfaction on the greatest Fourth ever known in Pittsburgh.

TRIBUTE PAID TO AN OLD-TIME NEWSPAPERMAN

Richard Realf, "Poet, Soldier, Journalist and Workman," Is Eulogized.

A LESSON FROM HIS LIFE

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Crawford, President of Allegheny College, Tells of His Brilliancy, and Compares Him to Edgar Allen Poe.

It was not because Richard Realf, "poet, soldier, journalist and workman," would have desired it that he was eulogized last night by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Crawford, the distinguished president of Allegheny college, Meadville, but because of the man's great genius, because he said some things that will never die.

Dr. Crawford's tribute was delivered before the Men's club of Christ Methodist Episcopal church.

Richard Realf will be remembered by old Pittsburghers, and especially by Gazette readers, as he was a member of The Gazette's editorial staff for several years previous to his untimely death. His "Hymn to Pittsburgh" is considered the best expression of this city's individuality that has been made in verse. Dr. Crawford compared him to that other erratic genius, Edgar Allan Poe.

"A recent critic," he said, "describes Edgar Allan Poe as a man in whom a small and selfish nature was ever at war with a powerful and curious intellect; his character a medley, fickle, weak and inconsistent; his career a story of petty vicissitudes and ignoble misfortunes, of brilliant successes counteracted by perverse and unworthy follies.

A Dramatic Career.

"He would be difficult, in a few words, to better describe the career of Richard Realf. Youth full of promise; life a series of mistakes and failures, broken now and then by brief periods of success, occasional flashes of light, which only make previous shadows seem deeper and more depressing. The authorized biographer of Realf describes him as "a poet, soldier and workman."

"Although irregular in his work, he certainly does deserve credit as a workman. As a soldier in our civil war he merited credit for his bravery and loyalty to the cause, and as a poet he is worthy of more than passing notice."

Dr. Crawford then delved deeply into Realf's early history and graphically related his work as a newspaper man in various parts of the country. Speaking of his work in this city, he said:

"In 1872 he fetched up in Pittsburgh, destitute and a slave to drink. Murphy was then at his zenith and poor Realf became one of the brightest and most promising of his converts. He spoke at mass meetings and electrified large audiences. For four years he was connected with The Commercial Gazette as an editor. Then trouble came to him again.

Had a Great Soul.

"The evil genius of his own making followed him. Outside of the French novel it is simply impossible to make a hero out of such a human as Richard Realf. His uncontrolled appetite for drink, his illegal marriages and final confession of weakness in taking into own life all mark him a man of yielding will, or one who suffered periodical moral dementia.

"Despite his moral lapses there was a great spirit within him, one struggling to express itself in worthy achievement, and Realf did achieve much.

"As a journalist he was a marked man among his associates. But he is best known as a poet. It is generally conceded that "Indirection" is the masterspirit of Realf's poetry. The last line of the last stanza conveys a beautiful thought in verse:

"'And never poem was yet writ, but the meaning outmastered the meter.'

"Realf's 'Hymn to Pittsburgh' is the best expression of the city's individuality that has been given to us in verse. 'The Swan Song,' the last verses that teemed from his lips on the eve of his suicide, are rich in meaning, though melancholy, indeed. He appealed to his fellow men to think well of him, despite his career. Listen to this:

"He loved his fellows, and their love was sweet;
Plant daisies at his head and at his feet.'

"It is clear from this poem that the man saw all his battles, and sin, and failure. He saw the sad havoc he had made of his life. He felt, too, his high purpose. In a word, this poem is Realf's prayer, that he may be remembered, not by his mistakes and failures, but by the good things he did, and the other good things he would have done had he not been caught in the toils of circumstance."

SALTSBURG, PA., May 15.—(Special.)—The Windsors played here today and lost to Kiskiminetas 6 to 3. DOES NOT WANT TO REDUCE THE FORCE

COUNCILMAN BROWN WILL ASK TO MAKE A CORRECTION.

Police Ordinance He Introduced While Intended to Provide More Money for Officers Cut Down the Force—Mistake Made by the Framer.

Councilman Thomas M. Brown of the Twentieth ward, who introduced the police salary ordinance now pending in councils, denies that there is any intention to reduce the police force. He says he did not prepare the ordinance, merely examining it as to form, and that his only intention was to increase the compensation of the patrolmen. The ordinance as introduced last Monday night reduces the number of policemen almost one-half, cuts the number of inspectors down to three and reduces the salaries of the higher officials. Mr. Brown says he will have the ordinance corrected.

It is evident that in preparing the ordinance the old police bureau ordinance of 1887 was used as to form, and that thoughtlessly the provisions of that ordinance were incorporated. It reduces the salary of each inspector to $125 a month; they now draw $150. It reduces the salaries of the superintendent and assistant superintendents and provides for only 240 patrolmen. The reading of the ordinance caused much comment at the public safety building, where they have been clamoring for years for more police.

Mr. Brown said: "I did not prepare the ordinance. I left that to a man who is well informed on police matters, and supposed it was all right. I only examined it as to form. My only idea was to provide for an increase in the compensation of patrolmen, sergeants, captains and lieutenants, and I certainly do not want to decrease the number of police."

The increases which Mr. Brown wants to bring about are as follows: Captains, from $100 to $120 a month; lieutenants, from $3 to $3 60 a day; sergeants, from $2 75 to $3 30 a day; patrolmen, from $2 50 to $3 a day.

The ordinance is now in the hands of the public safety committee and Mr. Brown will ask permission to present a substitute which will not reduce the number of men.

NO ROOM FOR BICKERINGS.

Committee on City's Health Discusses Smallpox Situation and Other Matters of Importance.

The Pittsburgh councils committee on health and sanitation held its first meeting last night and discussed plans for the health and cleanliness of the city. Chairman W. D. O'Brien expressed the hope that all partisanship would be eliminated as the health and life of Citizens were of greater importance than political bickerings.

Christ Beckert brought up the garbage question, saying that many complaints has been made that it was not being collected properly, and he thought the matter should be investigated and remedied. Dr. J. P. Shaw suggested that it might be better if the garbage could be collected at night. Mr. Schad of the Thirteenth ward said he wanted the papers and rubbish dumped in his ward cared for elsewhere.

The subject of disinfection was also discussed and Director A. H. Leslie of the department of public safety said there was great danger of the appropriation for that work being exhausted if the epidemic of smallpox continued. He said he was nervous over the smallpox situation, which he declared was reaching an alarming stage. He said there had already been 58 cases in the Municipal hospital, and that the fund of $5,000 for disinfecting purposes was going fast.

Chairman O'Brien said he considered the matter of disinfection one of vital importance and named a committee to investigate the methods employed and to see Controller Larkin and arrange for money being transferred from some other fund if necessary to properly carry on the work. The committee consists of Charles H. West, Dr. James P. Shaw and William H. Lang.

On motion of Dr. Shaw the Allegheny County Medical society will be invited to make suggestions regarding the proposed new municipal hospital.

PITTSBURGH COAL SUPERIOR TO OIL

River Shippers Only Slightly Concerned About Introduction of Texas Oil.

The introduction of Texas oil by steamship interests at New Orleans is causing Pittsburgh river coal shippers some concern, but they do not anticipate that oil will replace Pittsburgh coal as fuel in the south. The trial tests made by some southern interests have, according to accounts, been very satisfactory, and there is no telling to what extent coal will be replaced, for it will take some time to develop the superiority of oil as fuel over coal.

It was stated yesterday by a Pittsburgh river coal operator that the New Orleans market is this year 1,000 coalboats short of what was shipped to that market last season. This means a shortage of 25,000,000 bushels of coal. There are only two shippers from Pittsburgh, C. Dutte & Co. and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company.

Some of the Pittsburgh and New Orleans steamers which usually make four and five trips in a season have made only one trip this season and the opportunity for making further shipments before summer comes is not encouraging. The dealers expect to make at least one more coal run to New Orleans. The apparent shortage of coal, it is thought, may induce some of the southern interests to use oil.

The coal combination is said to have fortified itself in some measure. The company has a number of coal mines in the Alabama region and these will fill out some contracts, but the Pittsburgh article has the call. Coal is selling for 25 to 28 cents a barrel by the boat load, and brings 40 cents a barrel, retail.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., May 15.—River at 6 p. m., 11.8 feet and falling. Weather clear and cool, pleasant. Departed, Kanawha, coal fleet in tow. The arrivals were the Otto Marmet, Jack Frost, Convoy, E. R. Andrews and the Florence Marmet. All of them turned back except the Convoy, which went below. The mix-up which happened in the rush to get out on the flood tide from the Kanawha is worse than first reported. The Mt. Clare will have a new wheel and the Rodney Gilliam broke a spear in her wheel and the W. E. Calderwood cracked a flange. The Wash Hornbeil will lay up until a rise comes in the river and will be safe for navigation for a boat of her size. The total amount of coal brought down by the Kanawha fleet on this rise was 65 pieces, containing about 750,000 bushels.

LOUISVILLE—River on a stand, canal, 6.2 feet; falls, 4.1 feet; foot of locks, 10.8 feet. Business moderate. Weather clear, windy and cool. Packets in and out on good time. News of the Rivers.

The Harvister and her tow are moored in the back channel at the foot of Brunots island, McKees Rocks.

The trap at Sewickley is now clear, the sand flat which was obstructing the channel there having been removed.

The steamer Kanawha finished making her repairs and is now in the Kanawha river, on her way to Pittsburgh.

The steamers Greenwood and Lorena will no doubt be found in port this morning, as there is plenty of water for them.

The bids on the construction of the new life saving station, to be located in Dollsville, were opened in Washington today.

Col. J. G. Lydecker of Cincinnati, of the United States engineers' service, is in Pittsburgh visiting Capt. W. L. Sibert.

Capt. Clay Crawford, who was chief engineer on the City of Pittsburgh, has accepted a similar position on the steamer Queen City.

The dredgeboat Southern, one of the most powerful ever built, which has just been finished, was moored at the Monongahela wharf yesterday.

Capt. Gleason, G. W. Thomas and Philip Pfeil will all take tows of coal south for C. Jutte & Co. on the first rise. This concern has five tows ready for southern shipment.

The excursion steamer Francis J. Torrance has been given a landing place at the foot of Market street. Capt. John F. Klein moved the Annie Roberts away to make room for the Torrance.

Wharfmaster Jenkins Jones yesterday stated that the coal combination had taken some of its craft out of the landing, leased by the city to the Budd Coal Company, and that all will be out in a few days.

The towboat Oakland, on her way north for C. Jutte & Co., is two days out from Greenville, Miss. The Oakland has three barges loaded with lumber. She will return south with 30 coalboats, providing there is water.

The Peoples Coal Company and C. Jutte & Co., which have landings on the south side of the Monongahela river, just opposite Market street, have been benefited by the carload of Wabash railroad to put ring bolts in the pier of the new bridge.

As soon as the papers are made out the widow of Capt. Sylvester Doss, who was drowned at Memphis a month ago, will be paid the $1,000 insurance allowed her by the United Pilots' Corporation. Edward S. Grant, one of the officers and promoters of the association, is authority for the statement.

Capt. W. L. Sibert, the local government engineer, who yesterday returned from a trip of observation of the Monongahela, notes with satisfaction that the Lake Erie railroad has agreed to remove rock dumped into the river while blasting. The company will hire a dredgeboat to do the work.

Capt. Scott R. Dawson, one of the pilots of the steamer Steel Queen, yesterday called at the office of Capt. W. L. Sibert and complained about the leaking gas main in the Ohio river at Jacks run, which has been a menace to navigation for two months. Capt. Sibert said that he would give the matter immediate attention.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

In the lower southern fields there is quite a little producing property changing hands, and of the several deals consummated in the past two months, good prices have been realized, notwithstanding some of them were brought about through a combination of circumstances.

In Clay district, Ritchie county, W. Va., the Consolidated Oil Company, incorporated, has purchased the Linn Oil Company and the Swisher Oil Company's holdings on the Harkness tract. In the purchase are included 10 producing wells with a net production of 75 barrels a day, and leases on 200 acres of territory, on which there is room for 12 more wells. The purchase price was $1,000 a barrel, or $45,000 for the property. The Consolidated Company holds leases on some 600 acres adjoining its recent purchase, and will operate and develop them together. It is understood that negotiations for several more properties in that district are pending.

Developments in the fields were of the same order yesterday. Nothing but the most ordinary wells were drilled in or completed. Operators are interested in the Cantrell Oil Company's test in Griffin on the Harris farm in Doddridge county. It is considered of some importance despite the fact that it is not better than a 50-barrel producer.

In the Pine Grove district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Company has completed and shot its No. 3 on the Bishop Pennick farm and has a 50-barrel producer. The Cantrell Oil Company has drilled in its No. 5 on the S. A. Minor farm and has a 15-barrel pumper.

In the same district T. H. Jennings & Bro. have drilled in their No. 51, on the L. S. Hoyt tract and have a 75-barrel producer from the Gordon.

On the Ohio side in the Mackeburg field in Washington county, Ellison & Co. have completed their test well on the George McMann farm and have a 10-barrel pumper.

Near Wilking station in the same county, F. Wilding & Co. have drilled in their No. 1 on the Wilhelm Free farm and have a show for a 25-barrel producer.

In the Turkeyfoot extension, in Hancock county, W. Va., Murray & Co. have completed their No. 16 on the S. Cannon farm and have a 20-barrel producer.

In the Crows Run district, Beaver county, Snyder & Co. have completed their No. 3 on the John Hamerle, Jr., farm, and have a show for a 50 or 60-barrel producer.

In the Duff City field in Allegheny county, Stage & Leidecker are drilling their No. 6 on the Catherine M. Smith farm deeper and hope to find the Speechley sand.

Five miles northeast of Harmony, Butler county, the Cleveland Consolidated Oil Company has completed its No. 2 on the Charles Warner farm and has a duster in the 100-foot sand.

In the Speechley sand district, in Butler county, Foster & Co. have drilled their No. 1 on the Hindman farm from the fourth to the Speechley sand and have a 5-barrel pumper.

One mile northeast of developments Jennings & Co. have a show for an average well on the McCafferty farm.

FOUNDRY IRON SHORTAGE TO BE SOON RELIEVED

Producers Begin Systematic Work to Supply Wants of Consumers.

BESSEMER STILL LACKING

A Scarish Authority Undertakes to Show That the Scarcity Has Been Exaggerated—Rogers, Brown & Co. Tell a Different Story.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 15.—Producers of foundry iron have gone systematically about relieving the shortage in the west. Consumers who at one time or another during the past month or so have been refused iron, owing to the press of earlier orders, are now being provided with enough to cover their wants as fast as producers can make the necessary arrangements.

How much iron will be required to relieve the shortage, it is impossible to say, but it is suspected that recent reports have been more or less exaggerated. One of the largest dealers in New York said today he would not be surprised to find that 40,000 tons would go all around. This applies exclusively to foundry iron. The shortage in Bessemer iron is more tangible and really of considerable proportions. Two-thirds of the pig iron output of the country is Bessemer and the remainder foundry iron.

It has been a long while since anybody heard of a real bear on the iron situation, but a few are developing, and although their views apply to the more or less distant future they are nonetheless positive. However, these views are peculiar to a limited number of southern producers. One of the most prominent of the southern producers said today he believed enough iron will be produced in the south this year to go around, with some 200,000 tons to spare.

Much Noise by Small Consumers.

What this particular producer wants to know, is who is going to buy the iron that remains unsold? He believes consumers generally are covered for the entire year. It was called to his attention that only today (6 tons of No. 1 foundry iron sold at South Pittsburgh, Ala., for $17 a ton, or $4 a ton above the association's price; but he replied that such small transactions are significant of nothing and cannot be said to indicate the state of the market.

According to gentleman's views, if 50,000 tons of pig iron were suddenly offered in the market, a material decline in prices would inevitably result. Small consumers, he says, find themselves short of 50 or 100 or even 200 tons, and write urgent letters for production, which latter, although numerous, really involve no very large amount of iron, but still give rise to the impression that consumers generally are behindhand in their supplies on a much larger scale than really is the case.

These observations were concluded with the statement that the United States Steel Corporation bought pig iron into the first quarter of 1903 in order to get a price of $16.50 a ton from the Bessemer Pig Iron association. This has reference to the combine's record-breaking transaction, the result of which was only by taking such a large amount that the United States Steel Corporation got the iron at $16.50, and that otherwise it would have had to pay $17.

Stocks Have Disappeared.

Rogers, Brown & Co. in their weekly review of the pig iron situation say:

Every feature of the market continues without change. The long contracts for this year's delivery have been mainly closed and there is very little buying for 1903. The current demand, therefore, is for spot or early delivery iron and substantial premiums are made to secure this. Consumption is maintained at full tide. Production, as shown by April statistics, has increased moderately, the rate of output having for the first time in our history touched 18,000,000 tons. Stocks have practically disappeared, being down to about 90,000 tons at all the merchant furnaces in the United States. Sales not been uncommon in the past for single companies to carry more than this.

Importations go on quietly, but in considerable volume, nearly the entire foreign requirements. Steel billets and bars and structural forms also are being bought in for deliveries to mills in Philadelphia and as far west as Pittsburgh. Stocks are not changes in prices, which are firm all along the line. It is not thought that the advance movement will go further, for prices in eastern markets are now about equal with the duty with English, Scotch and German iron.

Foundries Combine Complete.

It was stated authoritatively in Wall street today that the formation of the American Steel Foundries Company, the corporation which will combine the leading steel casting companies of the country, has been practically completed. Harris, Gates & Co. are the managers of the syndicate which has underwritten the new corporation. The corporation is to have an authorized capital stock of $40,000,000 of which $20,000,000 is to be 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and the remainder common stock. The new stock will be issued to cover $17,500,000 preferred stock and the same amount of common stock. The company will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. It is contemplated that it shall acquire the property or outstanding shares of the stock of the American Steel Castings Company of New Jersey; Reliance Steel Casting Company, Limited, Pittsburgh; Leighton & Howard Steel Company, St. Louis; Franklin Steel Casting Company, Franklin, Pa.; the Sargent Company, Chicago, and the American Steel Foundry Company, St. Louis.

Steel Spring Combine's Acquisition.

At a meeting of the directors of the Railway Steel Spring Company today final arrangements were made for taking over the Steel Tired Wheel Company. For this purpose the capital stock of the Railway Steel Spring Company will be increased from $20,000,000 to $27,000,000, the $7,000,000 of the new stock to be divided equally into common and preferred. The preliminaries to the deal have been carried on with great secrecy.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 15.—There is considerable activity and marked improvement in mining prospects on Vancouver island, B. C. Foundations have been laid for the new machinery on the Lenora. At the Tyethe, an ore body has been encountered at the 120-foot level, where the width of the lead is six feet of pay ore. Within a few weeks the new Crofton smelter will be blown in and operate on Lenox Mount Sicker ores.

Further discovery of gold is reported near Cape Scott, Vancouver Island. It is a large area of black sand placer workings similar to the deposits at Wreck bay.

Two smelting establishments in Shasta county, Cal., are turning out bars metal equal in value to one-half the total annual gold production of the state. A third plant, with an initial capacity of 100 tons a day, is to be erected at Copley, in the same county.

In stripping the vein 10 feet on the 100-foot level of the Spy, at Tintic, Utah, six tons of gold ore were taken out that average $100 to the ton.

A blue porphyry dike one and one-half miles wide has been found on the west fork of Mormon gulch, Lemhi county, Idaho, by Mr. Dan Smith. Pan tests indicate good values in free gold.

Dispatches from Carlisle, B. C., state the discovery of a large stream of lignite burning ores, on which one man washed $1,875 gold in 24 hours. Sam Montgomery, the lucky discoverer, is 87 years of age.

The latest strike in the North Pole, near Sumpter, Ore., proves to be one of the richest in the district. The chute is 65 feet long and from three to seven inches in width, values run from $2 to $10 per pound, and $200,000 already has been taken out.

The Metal Market.

The local market for tin was steady and unchanged with a sale of five tons for spot delivery at 26c. The market closed with spot quoted at $29.00@29.05. At London the same feeling prevailed, with spot at £128 5s and futures at £122 5s. Copper was steady but quiet locally without much feature. Standard spot to August was quoted at $11 65 @12 00; Lake Superior spot at $12 12½@12 37½; electrolytic, $11 50@12 00, and casting $11 75@12 00. The production of copper in the United States for April was the largest on record for any one month. It came to 42,624 tons, against 21,488 tons in April of last year. Lead here was steady to firm, but quiet and unchanged at 4¼c. London remained at £11 12s 6d. There was no change in the tone of spelter either; $5 45 still being quoted. London was unchanged at £18 10s. Iron in the local market was steady, with warrants nominally $15 75@16 00 for No. 1 foundry, $15 50@15 75 for No. 2 foundry northern, $15 50@20 50 for No. 1 foundry southern, $15 25@15 50 for No. 2 foundry southern. Scotch and English markets were also steady and about unchanged. Glasgow closed at 53s 9d and Middlesboro at 48s 9d.

Midsummer Dullness in Wall Street

SPECULATORS IN WALL STREET UNUSUALLY SHY

Condition of Stock Market Not Abnormal for This Time of Year.

MONEY FLURRY THE CAUSE

Recent Acquisition of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville by the Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville Made Prices Move.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 15.—The passive condition of the speculation was not changed today. The volume of the dealings fell away to what is proverbially known as midsummer dullness. This condition of the stock market is by no means abnormal at this season, due to the usual shifting course of money resources and the uncertainties of the crop season. Overwhelming importance is attached to the fate of the corn crop this year, especially in view of the high prices of that cereal owing to last year's shortage and the present prospect for only a part of a winter wheat crop.

As the corn crop is scarcely more than in the ground yet, the chances of the future are almost too uncertain even for speculative ventures. The present waiting attitude of the market is therefore entirely reasonable and natural. So far as the situation is strained and unnatural in any degree, it is due to the recent efforts of pools and speculative plungers to stir up an unwarranted activity in the speculation and to fill up prices to unstable heights.

Money Flurry the Cause.

The money flurry last week and on Monday was the corrective influence and has resulted in the present conditions. The dullness is accentuated, of course, by the additional element of uncertainty in the threatened strike of anthracite miners. The assembling of the Boer peace conference was also a possibly repressive influence, at least in checking the buying for London account which has been in evidence here for several days past. It is well recognized now that this buying represented mostly the transfer of holdings from New York to London to take advantage of the cheaper money rate there, and the demand on the London money market on this account made itself felt yesterday in the stiffening of the rate. There was a handsome tendency also in Paris and Berlin which might be due as well to the American demand for credits. Our own sterling market steadied and rallied slightly today, marking the resumption of the balance of supply and demand in the local money market.

Price Movements Traceable.

Most of the price movements of any consequence in today's stock market might be traced to the influence of the acquisition of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville jointly by the Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville. The strength of the Chicago & Alton and Kansas City Southern stocks was obviously based on a speculative assumption that those roads might be available for a similar north and south junction. In spite of the strengthening of competing lines by the deal, Illinois Central was strong. Louisville & Nashville was distinctly heavy, possibly on realizing and the early demand for Southern Railway soon died out.

The Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville stocks themselves were decidedly feverish, relapsing violently after advancing. A drop in Chicago & Eastern Illinois, which has been discussed as a possible outlet for Louisville & Nashville, reflected disappointment. The upward movement in the junior Vanderbilts had its inception in Lake Erie & Western, which seemed to be influenced by a speculative theory of relation to Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville. Virginia-Carolina Chemical had the benefit of its increased dividend.

Amalgamated Copper Firm.

Amalgamated Copper was firm on the better conditions in the trade. General Electric jumped 6 points without explanation. Movements otherwise were trivial and shifting.

The bond market was dull but held steady. Total sales, par value, $2,275,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

ELECTRIC ISSUES FIRMER

Unprecedented Trading in Trade Dollar Mining—U. S. Steels Dull. Fire Proofing Shares Quiet but Firmer—Coal Shares Firmer.

The volume of business transacted on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was the largest for any day in months, the sales being nearly 21,000 shares and $27,000 bonds. The tone of the market was generally firmer and prices as a rule closed higher than Wednesday. The principal features were Crucible Steel issues and Trade Dollar Mining stock. In the latter the trading was unprecedently large, nearly 10,000 shares changing hands at $1 50 a share, a decline of 15 cents a share since the last previous sale. The buying was mainly by one house and the selling principally by another. At the close $1 50 was bid by the chief purchaser for a block of 5,000 shares more, but none offered. There was no known cause for the sudden activity. One house has been offering from 1,000 to 10,000 shares for a long time at $2, and possibly the seller became urgent and so let go at the decline. The company is capitalized at $5,000,000 and par is $5. Dividends of 10 cents a share have been paid at irregular periods.

Crucible Steel common sold nearly 5,000 shares and the preferred nearly 3,000. The common became uproariously active at the close, and under a large demand advanced to 23¾, a gain of ⅝ for the day. Heavy offerings at 23¼ stopped the pressure to buy, though orders for about 2,500 shares at 23 failed of execution. The preferred opened at 86½ and went steadily to 87½, but closed ¼ lower. sales and asked. The net gain, however, was ⅝. The advance is attributed to a general belief that the stocks were too low for a concern earning so much as the Crucible Steel Company, and also to a revival of the old rumors that the United States Steel Corporation was again trying to get control. If there is any truth in the gossip now the street knows nothing of it. The rumors, however, are quite widespread. United States Steels were very dull and fractionally lower. Westinghouse Electrics were firmer but quiet.

PROPERTY IS SECURED FOR A MACHINE PLANT

A Site on the A. V. R. R. Was Purchased for About $50,000.

TWELVE HOUSES ARE SOLD

The Famous Four-Mile House in Center Avenue Sold for $20,000. Suburban Lot Sales Very Successful—A Sewer to Be Moved.

Wickes Bros. of Saginaw, Mich., dealers in engines and machinery, have purchased from the National Lead and Oil Company the property formerly known as the Davis-Chambers white lead works in the Seventeenth ward for something over $50,000. The deed to the property was conveyed to a member of the firm yesterday by George Wilson, who negotiated the sale. The property bought is one of the best manufacturing sites in the city, as it lies along the line of the Allegheny Valley railroad and has excellent switching facilities. It consists of three parcels, a lot 149x100 feet, improved with a large machinery warehouse at the corner of Forty-fifth and Valley streets; a lot 112x100 feet, at the corner of Forty-sixth and Valley streets; a lot 140x100 feet adjoining in Forty-sixth street.

In addition to this property the firm has secured a 25-year lease on the Stiefel property, 110x100 feet, at the southeast corner of Forty-sixth and Valley streets. This gives them a total frontage of 240 feet on the east side and 151 feet on the west side of Forty-sixth street, 127 feet on the east side of Forty-fifth street and 320 feet on the south side of Valley street.

$100,000 in Buildings At Once.

This purchase means that Pittsburgh will eventually get one of the largest, if not the largest, machine plant in the country. The firm of Wickes Bros. is said to be the leading manufacturer in its line and already has a $500,000 plant at Saginaw, with branch offices in New York, Chicago and St. Louis. It has also bought recently a large machinery warehouse in Jersey City. It is the purpose of the company to begin the improvements at once by erecting a machine shop and boiler works, which, it is expected, will cost $100,000.

Twelve frame houses in Greenfield have changed owners through the agency of J. H. O'Donnell for a consideration of $40,000. They were bought by Harry E. Fisher from George E. Snyder. The houses contain six rooms and a bath each and stand on lots 25x75 feet, facing on the west side of Winterburn street, near Gertrude street, Twenty-third ward. The purchase was made for an investment.

An Old Landmark.

The "Four Mile House," one of the oldest and best-known landmarks in the city, has been sold for about $20,000. It is situated in Center avenue, between Euclid and Negley avenues. The lot, measuring 80x165 feet and extending back to the Pennsylvania railroad. The hotel is a three-story brick structure, containing about 16 rooms, and was the property of Mrs. Catharine Cook. Who purchased the property could not be learned nor what disposition was to be made of it.

The work of excavating for the Phipps offices building at the corner of Sixth street and Duquesne way has been interrupted by the large sewer which crosses one corner of the lot at a depth of about eight feet. The sewer is three feet nine inches in diameter and is the main outlet for the whole Sixth street district. In order to lay the foundations for the building it was necessary to change the course of the main so that it would run around the corner of the property instead of across it and a force of workmen is now engaged in placing it under the pavement in Sixth street.

New Plots Good Sellers.

The "U. P." plan of lots of J. Walter Hay in Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, is proving one of the best attractions that has been offered on that side of the river. Already over 100 of the 300 lots have been sold at prices ranging from $300 to $500 each. Yesterday over 500 persons visited the place, being driven to and from the street cars and over the plan in carriages. Most of the purchasers are Allegheny residents, who are seeking homes farther out, where there is less dirt and noise. The lots are 25x100 feet each, and the plan has been graded and improved with sidewalks and shade trees. The sale, which is being conducted by the Real Estate Trust Company and A. B. Hay & Co., will continue till the lots are all disposed of.

In the West Liberty district Haas & Lautner and the Beechwood Improvement Company report a steady stream of buyers to their respective plans. Nearly all of the purchasers intend to build homes in the near future, and if conditions become a little more favorable, it is likely that this section will witness a house boom during the fall months.

Colonial Bureau

This little picture is rather an embarrassing suggestion of the exquisite Colonial bureau which it was meant to portray. But the fact is, the beauty of a solid mahogany bureau of such dainty proportions is never reproduced satisfactorily in print.

It is sufficient, however, to remark that the Colonial style never had a more worthy representative in furniture.

The design is new—never shown till this season—and it will not be seen in any other store.

23 inches deep by 48 inches wide, with mirror 22 by 32 inches. The mahogany is peculiarly rich.

Price $90

Those persons who are furnishing their homes in the Colonial style, or who are planning to have certain Colonial rooms, will be especially interested in the magnificent array of artistic furniture of this period now on view at

Wabash Has Awarded Part of Its Ohio Work

CONTRACTORS NAMED FOR EIGHT SECTIONS

Pittsburgh and Allegheny Bidders Will Do a Large Part of the Grading and Masonry.

Contracts were yesterday awarded by Chief Engineer J. W. Patterson for eight of the 20 one-mile sections of the new Wabash line, from Mingo Junction, O., to a connection with the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Jewett, O. The contracts awarded represent about $1,000,000. The remaining eight sections will be awarded probably tomorrow.

The first section, No. 40, is the one adjoining the bridge over the Ohio river at Mingo Junction, and the others follow numerically toward Jewett. The sections and successful bidders follow:

Section 40, C. H. Connell Company, New York; section 41, Fogle & Francey, Allegheny; section 42, W. M. Chisholm, Pittsburgh; sections 44 and 45, Douglas Bros., Frederick, Md., and Williams Bros. & Morse, Cleveland, O.; section 50, P. Moran & Co., Pittsburgh; section 58, Bothwell & Carson, Allegheny; section 59, Rodgers & Walker, Sykesville, Md.

The work of grading, tunneling and building the masonry will be started immediately so that the bulk of this construction will be completed before winter. There are a number of tunnels and small viaducts on the work, all of which are included in the contracts. The award of this work has been delayed for nearly two months through changes in route and plans.

Annual Meeting of the P., Y. & A.

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh, Youngstown & Ashtabula railroad was held yesterday at Youngstown. The company is one of the Pennsylvania's western lines. The only change on the board of directors is the election of J. J. Turner to succeed the late J. Twing Brooks. The complete board follows: James McCrea, Joseph Wood, J. J. Turner and Benjamin Thaw, Pittsburgh; C. B. Wick, W. S. Bonnell and J. G. Butler, Jr., Youngstown; H. L. Morrison and C. D. Hoyt, Ashtabula; John G. Green of Philadelphia and J. G. Hancock of Franklin.

H. V. P. TAYLOR,

Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Wabash, Who Is Much Impressed By Future of Pittsburgh.

Would Have Uniform Accounts.

From the meeting of the auditors of about 30 of the leading railroads of the country, held at the Hotel Henry Wednesday, valuable results for railroad statisticians are expected. The object of this meeting was to consider means of making the financial accounts of railroads uniform and thus make the many cases of inter-accounting more easily arranged, as well as affording a more accurate basis of comparison. A resolution passed advocating the changes needful to accomplish this end, will be presented at the next meeting of the Association of Railway Accounting Officers.

PROMOTIONS MADE AMONG PENNSY MEN

Illness of H. W. Byers Results in a Series of Changes on the Lines West.

H. W. Byers, superintendent of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus division of the Pennsylvania lines, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence on account of ill-health, and the following list of promotions results: H. W. Thornton, superintendent of Marietta division, succeeds Mr. Byers; R. C. Barnard, engineer of maintenance of way, Cincinnati division, succeeds Mr. Thornton; F. H. Worthington, engineer of the Richmond division, succeeds Mr. Barnard; Robert Ferriday succeeds Mr. Worthington; W. D. Wiggins of the Cincinnati & Muskingum division succeeds Mr. Ferriday; A. A. Worth, assistant engineer of the Chicago Terminal division, succeeds Mr. Wiggins; J. R. Barrie, assistant engineer of the Erie & Ashtabula division, succeeds Mr. Worth; A. R. Holliday, assistant engineer of the eastern division of the Ft. Wayne, succeeds Mr. Barrie; C. Wood, a son of Second Vice President Joseph Wood of the Pennsylvania lines, until now an assistant in the chief engineer's corps, succeeds Mr. Holliday. All of these appointments were effective yesterday.

Railroad Club Meeting.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Pittsburgh Railroad club, the organization of traffic men of this city, will be held on the evening of Friday, May 23, in the rooms of the Pittsburgh Freight committee and matters of much interest will be discussed. The new president of the club, G. M. Conley, general agent of the Frisco line, will preside.

"Millions Well Spent."

"To come to Pittsburgh and see for myself the evidences of an unparalleled prosperity which I have heard about for a long time, has been abundant proof that the Wabash makes no mistake in spending millions of dollars to gain an entrance here," said H. V. P. Taylor, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash, yesterday.

Mr. Taylor, who has been here since the opening of the new Wabash offices, left last evening for St. Louis. Much of his time in Pittsburgh he spent inspecting industries. "Nothing can keep Pittsburgh from spreading in all directions, it seems to me," he said. "That the city should be counted on the census lists as having less than 400,000 population is manifestly unfair, considering the fact that the county contains over twice as many people and the whole county is practically one city."

RAILROAD NOTES.

Col. Thomas King, formerly president of the Pittsburgh & Western, is Pittsburgh on business.

The receivership of the Philadelphia & Reading ended this week. The road has been in the hands of the court for six years.

The lines in the Central Freight association have agreed upon a reduction of the rate on carload lots of export grain and grain products from 17½c to 12c a hundred pounds from Chicago to New York, effective May 23.

Harry Corbett, traveling freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Youngstown, whose office he established June 1, has declined a position in the general freight office of the company at Baltimore. He has not yet settled upon his future plans.

it would be wise to save a part of the money you're earning these days? Times don't always be so good. Better lay up something for the dull periods.
